Man Buried as Alex Kels, Haystack Murder Victim, Is Believed Another

POLICY HOLDER REPORTED ALIVE AFTER HIS WIDOW HAD BEEN PAID $80,000

Discrepancies Said to Exist in the Descriptions of Man Buried as Victim and Missing Cattleman

STRANGE CLEWS ARE TRACED

LODI, Sept. 29.—Like the unfolding of the plot of an ingeniously conceived mystery play, the drama in real life which opened when a man, supposedly Alex A. Kels of Lodi, was killed near here two weeks ago, is swiftly approaching its climax. Circumstance is being dovetailed with circumstance, and thousands of persons throughout the state are hazarding guesses as to the denouement. Murderer or murdered? This is the question around which the action of this most baffling of mysteries revolves. Is the charred body found in a burning haystack on the night of September 12, that of Kels, murdered for his money, or is it the body of some stranger slain in a fiendishly-conceived plan to provide a corpse that could be passed off for that of Kels to serve some purpose which required that Kels be legally declared dead?

The sheriff's office here is anxiously awaiting word from officers sent to Reno, Nevada, to investigate a rumor that Kels was seen alive in that city last Tuesday.

BODY MAY BE THAT OF ANOTHER MAN.

Examination of the body at first thought to be that of Kels is said to have revealed that the body, in all likelihood, is that of another man. According to the theory said to have been advanced by District Attorney Van Vrancken and Sheriff W. A. Relcks of Stockton Kels may possibly be alive and hiding in another state.

One of the many interesting sidelights in the mystery was furnished by the payment of the insurance policy of $80,000 to Kels' supposed widow.

The theory reported to have been advanced by the sheriff and district attorney after a careful consideration of all evidence in the case is that Kels, if he is still alive, may have laid his plans for a considerable time in advance, and waited until the proper person presented himself, to be used as an unwitting partner to the design.

If such is the case, the theory is that the man was murdered in some isolated spot and the body placed in the automobile which was later found nosed against the burning haystack.

DEFECTS ARE FOUND IN ALLEGED PLOT.

In connection with this theory it was stated that if Kels had planned and carried out the slaying, certain unforeseen circumstances interfered with the successful consummation of his plot. It turned out that the body was not destroyed by the fire. The autopsy is said to have shown that the body was that of a small man, whereas Kels is a large man. This circumstance, added to other significant facts said to have been uncovered at the autopsy tend to show that Kels is still living and that the body is that of another man, it was declared today.

A microscopic examination of the clothing on the body is said to have revealed that it was of a texture such as had never been worn by Kels. A can of sardines played an important part in the case. Kels had purchased two cans of sardines and some crackers in a Galt store a few hours before the accident. One of the cans was found opened and empty on the running board of the car, it is reported. The autopsy surgeons did not find any indication that the dead man had eaten any sardines.

INVESTIGATE RUMORS THAT KELS NOT DEAD.

"We are investigating rumors that Kels is not dead," Deputy District Attorney M G. Woodward said today. "We have no direct evidence that he is alive. There have been reports and clews which we are following up. But this is just one of the several theories in connection with the finding of the body supposed to be that of Kels.

U. S. May Hold Up Cuban Rail Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The Interior Department has asked President Zayas of Cuba to withhold his signature from the railroad consolidation bill until a further investigation of the terms of the measure can be made by the United States, it was learned here today.

Here Are Facts In Alex. A. Kels Death Mystery

HERE are the outstanding features of the Alex A. Kels mystery as it stands at the present time:

Body believed to be that of Alex A. Kels, found on the night of September 12, in a burning haystack on a ranch near Lodi. It was charred beyond recognition and indications were that the victim had been shot or beaten to death and then placed on the pyre to destroy the evidence.

Kels mourned as dead by residents of Lodi. Insurance amounting to $80,000 paid to wife.

Announcement made today that autopsy had revealed circumstances indicating that the victim's body was not that of Kels.

Report received from Reno, Nevada, that Kels had been seen there.

Efforts being made by District Attorney's office and Sheriff's office to unravel the mystery by fitting together the various circumstances revealed in connection with the crime.

NATIONS LEAGUE BACKS ARMS CUT

Mutual Guarantee Pact Approved by Assembly at Geneva.

By HENRY WOOD.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

GENEVA, Sept. 29.—The League of Nations assembly approved today the draft of a mutual guarantee pact, its greatest achievement of the year.

It is the result of the league's four years of effort towards disarmament and is to serve as a basis for reduction of armaments. The draft is referred to all governments, whether members of the league or not. All will be asked to sign a treaty as finally approved next year.

The assembly at the same time voted to request all nations not to increase their current armament budgets during the period when the league is perfecting and launching the mutual defense pact.

Quick summoning of an international conference to extend the principles of the Washington naval agreements to all non-signatories was urged.

RULERS OF OBAPESLA BEGIN REIGN

Herminia Peralta Dargie, Descendant of Early Don, and George C. Pardee Crowned at Court Ball

Municipal Auditorium Scene of Brilliant Function as Monarchs Take Sceptres; Dancing Concludes Rite

FOLLOWING is the program of events for the closing day of the Dons of Peralta festival week:

Eastbay Manufacturers' Exposition, Idora Park, all day and this evening.

Opening football season, California field, St. Mary's vs. University of California, 2 o'clock.

"The Days of Peralta," spectacular scenic production, Greek theater, 8 o'clock.

King George I and Queen Herminia today rule over the land of Obapesla.

In that private life into which these monarchs are accustomed to retire modestly at times, they are known as George C. Pardee, former governor of California, and Mrs. Herminia Peralta Dargie, great-granddaughter of the first don of Peralta. But in the archives of Obapesla their names are set down as the first sovereigns of the realm, and it is there recorded that their formal coronation was performed with all due ceremony and homage, in the presence of thousands of their loyal subjects, on the evening of September 28, 1923. That was last night.

After they had been invested with the symbols of their royal power, the new king and queen, surrounded by their court attendants, watched the presentation of a series of symbolic dances by 150 girls. Later they came down from their thrones and led the dance in which, presently, the citizenry joined, and which concluded the coronation festivities.

BALL IS CHIEF SOCIAL EVENT.

The crowning of Obapesla's king and queen, and the coronation ball that followed marked the big social event of the Fiesta de la Laguna, in which the seven cities of Obapesla are celebrating throughout the week their Spanish history.

The municipal auditorium ballroom, where the function was held, was brilliant with Spanish red and yellow, in the form of bunting, flags and banners. In the boxes surrounding the ballroom floor were gathered hundreds of representative citizens, with their wives, families, and guests from out of town, from all of the seven cities. In the galleries looking down upon the scene were the families of the 150 girls who took part in the symbolic dances, and a large number of spectators in general.

A novel feature of the coronation lay in the fact that until the entrance of the royal procession the crowd of watchers was unaware of the identity of the king and queen.

The procession was headed by Cardinal Joseph J. Rosborough, who was attended by Bishops Oliver Kehrlein and Fred Morcom, and six acolytes—Clyde Tillman, Thaddeus Tillman, Oliver Kehrlein Jr., Karl Kehrlein, Norman McDonald and Lewis Pencrantz. Following them came Abbie Taft as crown bearer to the king; Fred Blanchard, the court jester; Alma Walker, crown bearer to the queen; the court matador, Harold Nachtrieb; Virginia Marvin, dancer to the queen.

SPANISH GOWNS ADD COLOR.

Garbed in gowns of distinctive Spanish design marched the ladies in waiting to the queen—Donnas Fritz Henshaw, Joseph Kelley, Joseph R. Knowland, Joseph F. Carlston, Arthur Latham, Henshaw Dow, Tom Henshaw, Homer Poundstone, Edward Fennon, Ward Dawson, Frank Roller, Barbara Martin and Katherine White, attended by their cavaliers—Dons Douglas Lux, Gaylord Mitchell, Walter Reis, Floyd Rickley, Paul Burke, Arthur Latham, Fred Gibbons, Captain A. E. Howard, Lieutenant C. A. Shreve, Bud Fennon, Captain Dwyer, Captain Antonio Rodriques Martin, Frank Roller, Tracy Harron.

Maids of honor to the queen, gentlemen in waiting to the king, the royal guard, under the command of Generalissimo General George Barnett; and then, last of all, the king and queen, with their train-bearers.

QUEEN ACCLAIMED UPON ENTRANCE.

The burst of applause which greeted their entrance into the ballroom evidenced the crowd's

H. S. GIRLS BAN SHIMMY, ROUGE

Overdressing, Objectionable Dances Subjects Before Conference.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 29.—Objectionable dancing, overdressing and the use of cosmetics were banned today by high schools girls of seven counties meeting at Berkeley High School for the third annual session.

Delegates from more than thirty schools present at the meeting heard reports from delegates of an extensive program of welfare activities being carried on by the girls themselves. That high school girl leaders are sponsoring their activities which will lead to a further simplification of dress and activities was reported at the meeting.

Miss Ulah L. Ginter of San Jose high school disclosed to the meeting an unusual method for curbing the use of cosmetics among High school girls. An anti-cosmetic week, the object of which is to curb the use of makeup by girl students, was inaugurated at San Jose High School, Miss Ginter reported.

USE OF POWDER IS APPROVED.

"We announced that every girl using too much makeup would be tried at a court to be conducted by the girls' associates at the end of the week," reported Miss Ginter. "At the same time we tried to impress on the girls how much more attractive they were without cosmetics. As a result we did not have a case to try in court and had to substitute instead a mock trial in which the object of the week was driven home. Powder is permissible at our school but no rouge."

Miss Ginter also reported a dress contest in which High school girls were not allowed to enter classroom in costumes costing more than $3. An 85 cent dress made by one of the girls won the prize. This campaign, she declared, has curtailed overdressing at San Jose High School. Other reports telling of campaigns against cosmetics and overdressing were made to the conference, including one from Alameda High school, where a movement to regulate the attire of new students was reported.

OBJECTIONABLE JAZZ COMES UNRED BAN.

Objectionable dancing is being eliminated at Oakland High School through the activities of the girls association there, according to a report submitted by Florence Thompson and Lenore Fitzpatrick. The sponsoring of high ideals in personal conduct was reported by practically all the schools represented at the meeting. Social service activities including work in charitable institutions and other fields are being sponsored by high schools throughout the bay cities the reports submitted today disclosed.

Miss Edith Clymer, president of the Berkeley High School Girls Association presided at today's session. Meeting simultaneously with the girls are teachers from the various schools who have part in activities among the girl students.

Lloyd George on Leaving for U. S. Is Given Ovation

By F. A. WRAY,
(International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(International News Service.)—Former Premier Lloyd George accompanied by his wife and daughter, departed today for America amidst scenes of enthusiasm that recalled the days when he was in the heydey of his power.

"I appreciate your kindness in seeing me off the premises," shouted the former premier from the car window in answer to cheers of the crowd. "Take good care of the old country while I am gone."

The cheering gave way to laughter.

The former premier received an unprecedented send-off. The streets at the railway station were jammed. All the cabinet members of the old Lloyd George government were on hand, including Winston Churchill, former Irish Secretary Hamar Greenwood and Thomas McRae.

RUHR SURRENDER TIME IS FIXED

Germany Will Give France Formal Notice Early Next Week.

MUNICH, Sept. 29. — (International News Service.)—Bavarian Dictator von Kahr late today defied the German national dictator, Otto Gessler, by refusing to suppress the official newspaper organ of the Hitlerites, Voelkischer Beobachter. Gessler had demanded earlier that the paper be suppressed.

By LLOYD ALLEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 29. — Germany will give formal notice of her surrender to France early next week. Contrary to expectations, however, French troops in the Ruhr probably will be increased upon receipt of official advices that passive resistance has ended.

Germany's internal situation, it is felt here and in Paris, will become critical immediately the order to resume work is given. The occupational forces will take no chances by premature withdrawal, but will be pushed up to the border lines between occupied and unoccupied Germany, ready for an eventuality.

When the internal situation clears, a gesture of reducing the stringency of the occupation is in order from France.

This is understood to be the semi-official British view of what will happen, based on intimations from Paris. An inter-allied conference will follow.

MUNICH, Sept. 29 (By International News Service). — Reinforcements of federal troops poured into Bavaria today to suppress disorder and to maintain the authority of the federal dictator. During the night the clatter of tanks could be heard in Munich as they rumbled through the streets to guard the barracks.

After daybreak airplanes began to drone over the city, drifting lazily back and forth watching for concentrations of Fascisti. Troops are guarding the government buildings.

BERLIN, Sept. 29 (By The Associated Press).—It was officially announced today that the ordinance of January 13, suspending deliveries in kind on reparations to France and Belgium, had been annulled.

DUESSELDORF, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Rioting lasting several hours occurred in a suburb of this city last night. The trouble started with an attack by men believed to be separatist sympathizers on a small police substation. Reinforcements drove off the attacking party, several members of which were severely wounded.

MAYENCE, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Franco-Belgian authorities operating the railroads in the Rhineland and the Ruhr opened a recruiting office here today with the object of engaging 30,000 German railroad men for these lines. All the men engaged will be obliged to take the oath to obey the allied civil and military authorities.

DUESSELDORF, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—The Communist paper here publishes this evening a despatch from Munich saying a member of the allied control commission had been assassinated there. There is no confirmation of this report from any other source.

3000 Persons at Circus Are Saved When Tent Is Shot Full of Holes by Employees to Keep From Falling

OMAHA, Sept. 29 (By United Press).—Three thousand persons attending a circus performance in Omaha were saved from possible injury by circus employees who shot holes in the "big top" to prevent the rain drenched canvas from collapsing. Damage to the circus will total $30,000, officials said.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 29.—Eighteen dead, three missing, more than a dozen seriously injured, and property damage estimated at more than half a million dollars, was the toll of a tornado and cloudburst which visited western Iowa and eastern Nebraska last night.

At Council Bluffs, Ia., where a tornado struck shortly after 9 o'clock last night, five persons are known to be dead, three missing and five seriously injured and property damage estimated at more than $250,000.

EIGHT MOURNERS DROWNED IN CREEK.

Eight mourners were drowned at Louisville, Neb., when the house where the body of Mrs. Mary McCarver lay, was washed into Mill Creek, which became a raging torrent, having risen five feet in less than an hour, following a cloudburst.

The dead at Council Bluffs are:

FRED ROUPPLE, 35, a stock buyer of Wellsville, Mo.

MRS. LARS KELSTER, 26, and her three children, Richard, 6; George, 8, and Arthur, 4.

The dead at Louisville are:

ROBERT McCARVER, his brother, Will, and the latter's wife and two children.

MR. and MRS. ALFRED LAIRD, and their two children.

MRS. J. W. MORGAN, all of Louisville.

MRS. LOU SMITH, of Illinois.

DR. A. A. WARD, a physician of Marquette, Neb., on his way to make a professional call, was killed when, blinded by rain and hail, his car skidded and turned over.

THREE WASHED TO DEATH BY STORM.

Three persons, a railroad employee, and Clarence Dalton, a dairyman, are reported as missing at Council Bluffs, and it is believed that they may have been washed into Indian Creek, which is out of its banks because of the heavy rains of the past few days.

Mrs. Kelster and her three children were killed as they ran from their home which was in the path of the tornado. As they left their front porch, a large tree was uprooted and they were buried beneath it. The bodies of the four, huddled together, was found by a neighbor about an hour after the tornado had subsided.

Those killed at Louisville were seated in the home of Mrs. Mary McCarver, who died yesterday, when the creek, which had changed its natural course to run down the main street of the town, swept the house into Platte River.

MAN KILLED BY FLYING DEBRIS.

Roupple, was instantly killed as he dashed from an eating house. He was buried beneath flying debris and his body was not recovered until some hours after the tornado had subsided. Roupple had been in Omaha buying sheep and was on his way home.

Charles Cooly, who lives in the heart of the stricken area in Council Bluffs said that he had counted twelve houses in row which had been leveled by the tornado.

The Strand, one of the leading theaters in the Iowa city was almost demolished when the rear end of its caved into Indian Creek. No one was injured when the building gave way.

Fire followed the tornado and several barns, homes and warehouses were destroyed.

Persons living near Salt Creek, in the western part of Lincoln, were forced to flee to higher ground when that creek, which at this time of the year is dry, left its banks. Prisoners at the state penitentiary were used to build dams around the prison power plant in order to prevent it from being inundated and thus crippling service to the governor's mansion, a hospital and other state buildings.

Reporters were forced to wade in water up to their necks in at-

Troops Hunt Klan Accusers Who Disappear

Oklahoma Court Puts Row of Solons and Governor Up to Election Board.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 29 (By The Associated Press). — Six persons missing from Tulsa county following their appearance before Governor J. C. Walton's military commission to relate their experiences at the hands of masked bands are being sought by troop detachments in four counties today, Captain E. A. Wallis, personal aide to Adjutant General B. H. Markham, announced at military headquarters.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 29 (By The Associated Press). — The state supreme court at noon today denied an application of Governor J. C. Walton for a rehearing of his appeal from a decision of the secretary of state that would have prevented a vote Tuesday on an initiative bill to permit the state legislature to convene itself to investigate official conduct of state officials.

This removes the last legal obstacles to the submission of the question, and it will be voted on unless some new action to prevent it is instituted before Tuesday.

It was pointed out that the action of the court does not order the question submitted. It merely eliminates all legal barriers. It is still possible for an injunction action to be brought barring the question, the way for such action having been left open when the court earlier in the day denied an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the election board to put the question on the ballot.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29 (By United Press).—Eight military guard officers were relieved from duty in the strict martial law zone at the capitol today and forty guardsmen discharged. Reports were current that Governor Walton was lifting martial law at midnight, just two weeks after the drastic decision of state-wide rule by the military.

When statewide rule of the military is abandoned the governor will begin prosecution of klan officials and others allegedly responsible for the epidemic of floggings in Oaklahoma, it is said.

By R. S. McBETH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 29.—Mysterious disappearance of victims of "mob violence" on theeve of the trial of persons accused of assaulting them was under investigation here today, according to R. R. Stevens, special investigator from the governor's office.

Stevens declared several had vanished following the receipt of warning messages.

Suicide Indicated In Death of Woman

Mrs. Louise E. Rose, aged 62 years, of 1515 Harrison street, died last night under circumstances which police indicate suicide. She is said to have taken a quantity of poison, having been prompted to take her life because of financial troubles.

Her daughter, Mrs. Louise Phillips, with whom she lived, told the police that her mother had purchased a quantity of poison about a year ago and had said that she would kill herself some day. Mrs. Phillips did not take the remark seriously at the time.

Mrs. Rose is said to have been well known in Chicago, where she made her home at one time.

TRAIN WRECK RESCUERS RUSH TASK

Cessation of Storm Raises Hopes of Taking Dead From Rushing Streams Before Identity Is Lost

Check-up by Officials of Railway Co. Puts Total Missing at 42, All of Whom Are Believed Dead

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CASPER, Wyo., Sept. 29.—With the number of dead still undetermined in Wyoming's most appalling railroad disaster in years, dawn today brought hope that rescue workers would be able to reach the submerged cars of Chicago, Burlington & Quincy passenger train No. 30, which plunged into the raging torrent of Cole creek when a bridge across that stream near Lockett, fifteen miles east of here, collapsed late Thursday night.

Railroad officials still clung to their belief that not more than 25 victims are in the watery grave of Cole creek, but statements of rescued passengers indicate that between 40 and 55 met their death.

Rain ceased falling early this morning and at dawn indications were that the flood waters would subside during the day to a point that will permit entrance to the submerged coaches.

It is feared that all chances of identification will have passed unless the bodies are recovered today.

Dr. J. T. O'Donnell, Burlington surgeon, stated this morning that the speed of the stream, which has been like veritable Niagara, will so mar the faces of those in the water and result in such decomposition that even embalming will be difficult.

Two bodies from the wreckage, Express Messenger D. E. Schultz of Denver, and H. M. Schmidt of Glenrock had been identified early today. Two bodies had been washed ashore at Glenrock and reports, unconfirmed, were received from the vicinity of the wreck that several bodies had been seen floating down the Platte river, of which Cole creek is a tributary, at daybreak today.

According to Burlington railroad officials, checkup of their records showed that there were approximately 76 persons on the train when it left Casper. Thirty-four have been accounted for, leaving 42 believed dead. This report was confirmed by some of the surviving passengers, who declared that the train carried its lighter load in months when it started on its fatal journey.

It was said, however, that several passengers were on the train who had not purchased tickets at Casper and it is feared that the final list of dead may go over the 50 mark.

CASPER, Wyo., Sept. 29 (By United Press).—The first relief train to come into Casper from the scene of the Burlington passenger wreck this morning brought three bodies and others were expected during the day.

Those recovered today were:

W. J. Houlse, Gunnison, Colo., passenger.

E. J. Klove, Cheyenne, Wyo., brakeman.

Albert Hill, Garden City, Kas., passenger.

COUNCIL BLUFFS HOUSES RAZED BY HURRICANE

$500,000 Damage, 18 Killed by Floods and Hurricane in Midwest.

tempts to get a story of the tragedy. Gordon Richmond, attempted totake a "short cut" and fell into a pit at a filling station and only through the efforts of fellow newspaper men was he rescued from a watery rave. A virtual cloudburst in this city caused the postponement of a circus. The circus was scheduled to leave for St. Joseph, Mo. last night, but was unable to move because of the deep mud and rains.

Several trains out of this city for Kansas City, Chicago, remained here because railroad officials feared that many of the bridges might give way under the weight of the heavy trains.

Bridges were carried away by river and creeks out of their banks in Nebraska and highways in some parts of the state were under a foot of water. Telephone and telegraph communication was disrupted temporarily.

TRAINS STALLED BY OVERFLOWED RIVERS.

Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train No. 22, due in Kansas City early today, left Council Bluffs at its usual time, but was stalled at South Omaha and forced back into this city when it was found that the tracks were covered with water.

Water early today was running from three to six feet deep in the business section of Council Bluffs and buildings are coated with a foot of mud. All traffic between this city and the Council Bluffs was suspended, and the gas company in the latter place said it was unable to supply gas for cooking or lighting purposes, because the engine room of their plant was flooded and the machinery rendered useless.

FLOODS RAVAGE WYOMING DISTRICTS.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CASPER, Wyo., Sept. 29.—More than a million dollars' damage is believed today to have resulted in Central Wyoming as a result of the worst flood conditions experienced in several years. With the cessation of rain in most sections early today it was believed danger of loss of life had passed.

Steady downpour of rain, cloudbursts and snowfall prevailed over the central section of the state for more than 24 hours, filling dozens of streams bankfull and resulting in almost complete paralyzation of railroad and automobile traffic.

All railroad traffic on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad between Casper and Billings, Mont., is at a standstill because of numerous bridges being washed away and the undermining of miles of trackage.

VAST DAMAGE DONE BY STORM.

The Yellowstone highway is submerged, preventing vehicular traffic. Bridges on the Chicago and Northwestern between Casper and Lander have been swept away. The Great Salt Creek oil field is isolated. Oil carrying pipe lines have been broken and huge quantities of crude oil are escaping.

In Sheridan scores of families were forced to flee from their homes when the waters of Big and Litle Goose creeks became raging torrents.

Laramie streets were knee-deep in water, with debris floating through the city.

Many small villages and communities were completely isolated as the result of crippled communication.

No loss of life had been reported, except the toll taken by the Burlington wreck east of here, which was caused by flood waters.

Reports from Rock Springs said that the bad weather has caused government air mail flyers much trouble. Pilots claim it is impossible to go over the mountains because of heavy fog and rains.

Plural Wives Ask Estate of Model Husband

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Two women, each declaring herself the widow of James C. Colvin, a mining engineer, who died in the general hospital here three months ago, have come into the superior court as claimants to his estate of $5,000.

Neither women ever heard of the other until Colvin died, although both have lived here for ten years. Each said he was "a model husband," although frequently absent from home, inspecting mines.

Mrs. Leona Colvin said she married the engineer in 1888. She has three grown children.

Mrs. Rosyetta Colvin said she married him in 1914.

"We were very happy," she told the court.

The case will be resumed Monday.

Court Ball Visualizes "Splendid Idle Forties"

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS.

The ball of the Dons of Peralta last night at the Auditorium vizualized for a new generation the glory of the tradition of the Splendid Idle Forties.

And the Queen was no pretender to the throne. Her Majesty, Queen Herminia—Mrs. Herminia Peralta Dargie—was to the purple born and the link with the past gave the high note of realism to the imagery and romance that wove together the pageantry of the days that were—before the Gringo came.

Again the pulchritude of Eastbay women scored.

Not in Carlos' own day, in all his glory, were lovelier women in his Madrid court, else Velasquez would have told us. Velasquez certainly missed a lot by being born too soon.

And the costuming was "in the picture." No anachronisms—at least not in Queen Herminia's court. And as for color and line, it wove together a tapestry like unto nothing less gorgeous than the fields of Peralta's California in early springtime.

BOXES SMART.

And the boxes flanked the court pageant nobly.

The Eastbay got out its tiaras and ermines (and whisper it, Oakland had tiaras and ermines when a lot of California was in calico) and the ensemble was superb as His Majesty, King George, bore his queen to her throne from the coronation dais at the east end of the court. And foyer-gossips had it that the church had lost a great cardinal in giving a postmaster to Oakland.

That coronation scene was great. But why wasn't it longer?

Next time, perhaps, if the king business still holds up.

And what possibilities that "next time" conjures up?

All that has been done—the Children's Parade, the gorgeous night on the lake under the silver moon and last night's spectacle—said a visiting San Franciscan, "were the digging-in process—the beginnings of the foundation for a superb annual round-the-bay festival that has its root in the very soul of the country."

NEXT TIME GREATER.

And next time a pageant that will tell something of the social life of the pastoral days hereabouts, when the Peraltas, the Bernals, the Sobrantes, the Alvisos, the Moragas, the Valencias and the rest of the grandees lived as few kings lived in their day.

But that takes time and preparation. And what was put over last night—old Spain and old Mexico brought back—was the work of less than three weeks. And for the achievement honors go to Max Taft, chairman of the ball, and to his director general, Mrs. Katherine Brown White, who has a vision and an executive brain.

"Perhaps," said one of the ladies-in-waiting last night, "the men will learn from this experience that they can't put over anything worth while without the women. And we're just dying to be asked to help, as you know."

Take heed, Dons, for that glorious ball of September, '24, when all the world will come to dance at your party.

And tonight a spectacle not less diverting will be staged at the Greek theater, under the harvest moon.

And Berkeley, with the true spirit of California—the spirit that drove those pioneers of Spain to this western wilderness in 1770—will send them into the arena tonight to share in the play and to forget for the hour of mimickry the sorrows of their hearts. "It's great to share this heritage of courage of ours."

Society Fills Boxes to Pay Homage to Rulers

Society's part in the great Pageant depicting court life of Spain in centuries past at the Municipal Auditorium last evening was to pay homage to the King and Queen of Obapesla and to watch the throngs of merrymakers who joined in the carnival spirit of the evening when the ball was formally opened with court ladies and their velvet cloaked Dons.

The boxes lining the sides of the arena were filled with handsomely gowned women, some wearing bright colored shawls, heirlooms from many generations. There were the Peraltas, their ladies in rare black lace gowns and mantillas, and many of the younger matrons whose costumes were lively to look upon.

Mrs. Ward Dawson was a lovely figure in lavender brocade and silver lace. Mrs. Salem Pohlman and her sister, Mrs. Zook Sutton, were court ladies, their gowns unusual in design and color. Mrs. Pohlman wore royal purple and blue and Mrs. Sutton, green and silver.

Mrs. Barbara Martin Bromwell was a dashing figure in flame taffeta and Mrs. George W. Baker Jr. (Carmen Ghiradelli), a typical Spanish type, in brilliant orange.

Mrs. Robert Waybur's picturesque robe was of deep fuchsia.

Mrs. Joseph Russell Knowland wore an allover cloth of gold with court train of the shimmering material and de Medici collar. In her coiffure she wore handsome black plumes contrasting against the gold.

Mrs. Joseph Carlston's gown was of white and silver, of exquisite design and she wore a high Spanish comb in ivory and rhinestones.

Mrs. Fritz Henshaw was a charming picture in her court gown of blue and silver lace cabuchons, and jeweled headdress.

Mrs. Arthur Latham was equally beautiful in red and silver brocade.

ANCIENT TIMES LINKED TO TODAY IN CORONATION

Court Jester Almost Brings Grief to Royal Pair By "Fool" Trick.

In the coronation of His Majesty, the King of Obapesla, and his Royal Consort, the Queen, her Gracious Majesty, and in the royal ball which followed last night in the Municipal Auditorium, time was bridged, centuries flavored the colorful pageant, the medieval met the modern, and emerged into somethhing which was neither past nor present but that which was distinctly Californian.

A King an Queen were crowned—a noble ruler, and a royal consort whose gracious beauty, dignity and presence made her an empress indeed. Yet democracy ruled. "Long live the King; the King is dead," was no idle phrase. The hundreds gazed with pleaed eyes upon the speciacle of the motion, color and glory of that brilliant coronation, and then turned lightly back to await the first strains of the dance which summoned them to the center of the stage.

It was the jester who threatened to bring grief upon the impressive procession which followed the royal pair to their throne upon the auditorium stage. As the King and Queen made their way under the crimson canopy, the court fool, feeling the necessity of playing his part, tossed his big, woolen manakin into the air. It fell square upon the suspended folds with unexpected force. The canopy swayed and tilted but valiant hands protected the heads of the royal couple and catastrophe was averted.

"Yet democracy once again claimed its own. One noble courtier, with silken doublet and much display of hose as was the vogue of another time, rebelled at doffing his sweeping hat as royalty passed. He would bend from the waist—but no—he held no brief for imperialism even in play. The black velvet and white plumes held in place.

Even a Cardinal has penalties. For behold that gallant postmaster of ours, condemned by his sweeping crimson robes to sit composedly through a long and enticing pageant while ladies of the court must needs stand. But they did it smilingly and picturesquely, even though he who placed the crown upon the royal heads looked embarrassed and uncomfortable.

And then Carmen—a beautiful, live thing in rich shawl and whirling dance. Now this lovely Spanish girl stepped from the past, under the skin was as modern as those who looked upon her. For once in reolving step the great high comb which topped her hair flew far away. The dance went on, but in a swift swoop the dancer recovered her headdress, a gesture which was part of the Castilian movement restored it to place. Once more the modern girl, ready to meet any situation, emerged victorious.

Again think in pictures of the woman of the past who veiled herself in priceless laces, stiff silks, and made an altar of her jewels; who would be shocked at the idea of political equality and whose hours were dedicated to love and loving. Into this picture, bring crowds of free, unbound, barefooted maidens in flowing draperies and dartlike movements—perhaps classic, perhops, again, ultra modern. In such a scene did past and present meet and blend and flow onward last night to that something which only California can create.

And then came California herself. In fluttering garments of red gold, hair falling in bright ripples below her waist and caught across with broad band of earth's sunshine—eyes, brilliant cheeks aflush—a truly California girl in a California dance to the strains of "I Love You California." Thus did the pageant come to its close. Thus did the past give way to the present. Thus were the Dons of Peralta, who thronged the boxes which rimmed the auditorium and sat in shadows in the gallery summoned to join the merry-making—they with their ladies in glorious colors draped over with exquisite laces and shawls and wearing in their hair jewels and combs and crimson roses.

Chemistry Helps In Washing Clothes

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Chemistry and physics of the modern laundry will be discussed by recognized experts at the annual convention of the National Laundry Owners association here October 1 to 5, says W. E. Fitch, general manager.

"Our scientific phases of laundry work," Fitch says, "are planned to interest every housewife and every man who sends a shirt to the laundry. Several years ago the laundrymen established a fellowship with the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh, where Dr. A. F. Shupp has been engaged in laboratory experiments in connection with every problem involved in the washing of clothes.

MAN MURDERED AT HAYSTACK NOT KELS, IS BELIEF

Authorities Work on Theory Crime Was Committed to Get Insurance.

Unless we can establish in some manner that Kels is alive we have no evidence sufficiently strong to prove that the body found on the Wpodson ranch is not that of the cattle man."

The murder victim, whose body was burned beyond recognition, was found by autopsy surgeons to have possessed only three teeth, while it was known that Kels set of teeth was intact. Other seemingly insignificant facts were pieced together in the chain of evidence which, it now seems certain, will unravel one of the most baffling murder mysteries in the history of the state.

Among these apparently trifling circumstances was the fact that Kels was known to have eaten a can of sardines on the evening of the murder. When the stomach of the murdered man was examined, no traces of sardines were found.

STRANGER SEEN IN KELS' AUTOMOBILE.

A third circumstance which strengthens the theory of the authorities that Kels is not the man who was murdered is the fact that a stranger was seen getting into Kels' automobile a few hours before the machine was discovered on fire in the haystack in the field of the Wodson ranch a few miles from Lodi, with Kels's supposed body in it.

"I am not prepared to make known all the facts which have come to light in this new development," said Sheriff Hlecks. "We expect to make an arrest within a few days. It will not be made in this state, I believe."

When the stranger was seen getting into Kels' machine at Stockton, Kels was also in the car at the time, it is reported. He is said to have been seen driving away with this stranger.

On that day Kels had collected several thousand dollars in his business, and it was first supposed that he had been murdered for his money.

A significant disclosure at the autopsy was that the murder victim had been killed by either a gunshot wound or a blow upon the head, and that he was dead before fire had been set to the haystack in which the auto containing his body had been placed.

The last time Kels was seen in this State was a few hours before the tragedy, when Matthew Radacker, a Lodi carpenter, according to Radacker's report to the police, passed him near Galt.

Kels had gone to the country to hunt for stray cattle, and to make collections. It is believed that he was on his way home when Radacker saw him.

It was stated by Victor Daniels, a farmer, who lived near the place where the haystack was set on fire, that two autos were seen in that vicinity on the night of the murder. The headlights were turned off. A few minutes after they drove up, Daniels stated, he heard sounds like gunshots, or the exhaust of an automobile. Immediately afterward the haystack burst into flames. One of the autos then sped away in the direction of Sacramento.

Mrs. Johnson, who also testified in the case, said that the machine passed her home a few minutes later, going at the rate fully 50 miles an hour.

BODY IN MACHINE AT BURNING HAYSTACK.

When Daniels went to investigate, he found an auto nosed up against the haystack. This machine, it was afterward learned, belonged to Kels. Not seeing anyone in the car, Daniels turned his attention to saving some farm buildings nearby, which were threatened by sparks from the burning hay.

When he returned to the burning haystack a few minutes later he saw, according to his report, the body of a man huddled up at the bottom of the car. The body lay in the rear of the machine and was covered with a heavy cloth or a lap robe. He was joined by other farmers, but it was impossible to remove the body, owing to the intense heat.

Kels was the proprietor of two local meat markets. He did both a wholesale and retail business, dealing principally in cattle. It is said that he was prosperous in a business way. He was married twice. He was divorced from his first wife.

recognition of the appropriateness of their selection for royal Obapesla honors. To each there was a great deal in last night's ceremony that was not unfamiliar. Queen Herminia, as Mrs. Dargie, had only recently returned from Madrid, where she was frequently the guest of King Alphonso; besides, it was her great-grandfather, Luis Maria Peralta, who first ruled the site of the present cities of Obapesla under a Spanish grant. To King George, on the other hand, the affair may easily have brought back memories of the time when not only the people of Obapesla, but of the whole of California, had chosen him as their executive.

The coronation was performed by Cardinal Rosborough, after the royal procession had moved, to the strains of a coronation march, to the end of the hall, and had divided to permit the passage of their majesties to the coronation dias. Then the court party proceeded to the throne, which was mounted on the stage at the opposite end of the hall, and from there surveyed the further festivities held in their honor.

The dances, in which 150 girls participated, including Miss Burdette Spencer and Miss Virginia Marvin as soloists, drew forth enthusiastic applause from the spectators. After the program was finished, the court party descended to the floor and danced. When the next dance began the floor was thrown open to everybody, and general dancing continued until the close of the evening.

NEWS and GOSSIP

FROM STAFF WRITERS AT HOME AND ABROAD

By GEORGE T. HOOK,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Shades of Gilbert and Sullivan! New York theatrical producers whose forte is musical plays are apparently going to stage a comeback for the once-popular comic opera. You know, the "Miss Bob White," "Madame Modiste," "The Mikado," "Princess Bonnie," "Chimes of Normandy," "Little Tycoon" stuff—the kind of plays that linger now in the minds of the old and middle-aged, but are as strange to the youthful moderns as chicken is to an Eighth avenue chicken pie.

The reason for the contemplated recrudescence of that which fell into disuse with the advent of the musical comedy is the discrimination evinced by the theater-going public in the last several seasons. Producers have ample proof, they say, that audiences nowadays want musical plays that have some "meat" for mental as well as optical consumption.

Arthur Hammerstein, prominent American producer, whose "Wildflower" met with such marked success during the last season and which shows evidence of retaining its popularity this season, spoke for himself and others of his profession the other day when he said: "America has found herself on the musical comedy stage, and where she led the world into a chaotic mass of blaring sound and wild and rampant colors in revues she will again take the lead in bringing the theater to comic opera which will live up to what the name conveys."

In other words, comic opera is to be the child of evolution. It's usurper, the old-type musical comedy, gave way to the cleaner, meatier type of musical play, which in turn gave rise to revues, all sorts of vanities, scandals, follies and the like, and now the stage is being set for comic opera to evolve from all this—to stage a return engagement.

Yet despite the contention of Mr. Hammerstein "that theatrical managers have rung the death-knell" of musical plays minus plot, the revues, scandals, vanities, follies and artists' models—things which are odds and ends pieced together, with artistic and even extravagant staging and are absolutely devoid of plot that runs throughout the production—continue to magnetize the ducats.

But Mr. Hammerstein insists that "the new era of finesse has arrived" on the stage, and no more will be tolerated the "bawling, syncopated soubrette whose only acquisition was a reputation in the divorce courts and a vulger method of kicking."

Shake hands with Mrs. Black Weasel, esteemed matron of the tribe of Arapahoes of Wyoming. If you're one of the many who dislike the metropolis as a permanent place of residence you'll be glad to meet her, for Mrs. Black Weasel "can't see why any one wants to live in New York."

One of the twenty-seven full-blooded Indians who traveled all the way from Wyoming to camp in the city for a while before going to London to give the subjects of Britain a sight of the real thing as Redskins go, and one of the few squaws of the old school who speak English, Mrs. Weasel was frank in branding the city a "hot-house that wilts flowers."

A fine figure of speech that, if you understand what she meant. It seems that nowadays not even the red race is immune from the greatest scourge of the city, but Mrs. Weasel, modest like, refused to delve into that subject.

However, her visit was productive of a good phrase typifying the "melting pot":

"A hothouse that wilts flowers."

It might as well be made known now as later—

Near beer on Ellis island, instead of being a legitimatized evil as relics of "the good old days" think it is, is intended as a boon to the unsuspecting immigrants, who, through ignorance of vital world affairs, are not aware that the United States is rehearsing prohibition and that bootlegging has become a lucrative profession. The purpose of near beer on the immigrant isle is humanitarian — to "break the news gently."

Africa Offering Good Trade Chances

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—The Union of South Africa as a customer for American made goods is increasing in importance and is improving in character of trade, according to Trade Commissioner Stevenson of the Department of Commerce, who recently returned to this city after three years of service in Johannesburg.

While in pre-war days the American share of South Africa's imports was insignificant, and during the war it was abnormally large, it has now settled down to a substantial amount and represents business secured, after keen competition. Since the office of the American trade commissioner at Johannesburg was opened, more than 100 American goods agencies have been made operative.

SUBORDINATE CONVENTIONS OF A. F. L. CONCLUDE

Building Trades Vote Against Model Contract Despite Plea of Gompers.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 29.—Two subconventions of the American Federation of Labor—the label trades and the metal trades departments—completed their sessions here yesterday. A third, the building trades, will adjourn tonight, it was announced, leaving the field clear for the main convention Monday.

The metal trades went on record for a determined attempt to bring about a 100 per cent unionization of the steel industry. Both this organization and the label trades elected officers for the coming year. In the building trades convention the outstanding feature was an address by President Gompers of the federation, who made an earnest appeal for greater cohesion and less bickering in the ranks of the unions.

Prior to Gompers' appearance the building trades had voted down a resolution for a model form of contract which would have insured the builder or employer against any tieup of work because of disputes over jurisdiction. Gompers took up the cudgels for a strict observance of contracts and called upon the convention to make known its reasons for opposing such a plan. The convention did not reverse its action in response to the appeal.

The labor situation in Chicago as affecting the building trades was slightly clarified, according to the Chicago delegates, by the refusal of the department to grant a charter to the teamsters' union of that city, which would have given it certain standing in connection with the placing of building materials.

Officers elected by the label trade department are:

J. W. Hays of Indianapolis, Ind., president; Jacob Fischer of Indianapolis, first vice-president; G. W. Perkins of Chicago, second vice-president; Charles L. Bain of Boston, fourth vice-president; Joseph O. Bergfell, of Cincinnati, fifth vice-president, and John J. Manning of Washington, D. C., secretary-treasurer.

ACTIVITIES of WOMEN

Women's Clubs Plan Fall Activities

A conference of department chairmen has been called by Mrs. Elon L. Warner, president of Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, for Saturday, October 13, on Capwell's roof garden. The entire day will be given over to the affairs of the district, the workshop being preceded by an executive board meeting. Many matters of paramount importance will be brought before the morning session which will adjourn to participate in the luncheon and the conference scheduled to follow.

Leaders appointed early in the summer to direct the activities in the score or more departments which are included in the general federation program have completed outlines of those particular policies which will be carried out during the coming year. These will be offered for consideration of the entire board and for such discussion as each may prompt. The departments cover a wide field from child welfare to conservation of natural resources and from home economics to American citizenship. State chairmen have been invited to join the district leaders in the round table.

An a la carte luncheon has been arranged. The clubwomen will assemble at 12:30 p. m.

Reading people on sight, as demonstrated by Miss Elizabeth Rabbas, will engage the interest of Adelphian clubwomen at the October union meeting program next Thursday. Miss Rabbas is a student of applied psychology who has attained a wide vogue for her cleverness with the smart sets on both sides of the bay. Her character readings have given both amusement and much food for thought. Her programs never fail to claim attendance. With her lecture she usually calls for volunteers who will offer themselves for reading.

Mrs. Thomas Hutt will be hostess of the day.

Recitations, songs and spelling matches with such refreshments that makes a child's party will make up the program.

Mrs. F. V. Vollmer, president of Oakland Federation of Mothers clubs, and Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of Oakland Schools will be guests of honor at the regular luncheon of the association on Wednesday in the school cafeteria. Musical numbers will be rendered by Mrs. Joe Doyle of San Francisco.

Wife Says Husband Slapped Her On Ride

Mrs. Callie Sanders, who lives at the Jefferson hotel, complained to the police last night that her husband, Samuel M. Sanders, had slapped her while they were out for an automobile ride. She said they were with another couple and that they stopped at a roadhouse. She said that when she refused to go into the roadhouse Sanders struck her.

When she reported the matter at police headquarters, Police Inspectors William Emigh and Tom Pardee arrested Sanders. He is being held pending an investigation. Mrs. Sanders stated that she would swear out a warrant charging her husband with battery.

BETTENCOURT IS FREED BY JURY IN EXTORTION CASE

Former Oakland Policeman Found Not Guilty in Twenty Minutes.

Edward S. Bettencourt, former Oakland policeman, was acquitted by a jury last night in Superior Judge F. E. Jamison's court of charges of extortion brought by Joe Barba.

The jury deliberated only 20 minutes after Myron Harris, attorney for the defense, forced Deputy District Attorney Wade Snook of the prosecution to show a statement made by Barba to Captain of Police J. F. Lynch to the effect that his wife was asleep when he said he gave the marked $10 bill to the policeman. Barba's testimony before the jury had been that his wife had marked the money and been a witness to its passing to Bettencourt.

Bettencourt was charged with having extorted money from Barba under threat of arrest. Testimony was presented to show that Barba had paid $15 and that when Bettencourt returned to collect the remainder, he was given a marked bill.

Homer Rue, employer of Barba, was said to have found the marked bill under the cushion of a chair in the city hall which Bettencourt had occupied while being interrogated by heads of the police department. Testimony was given at the trial yesterday to the effect that no one had seen Rue recover the money from the cushion.

A night session of the court was ordered by Judge Jamison because the term of service of the jurors expired today.

Yellow Cab

Like new every morning

A new cab is usually a clean cab. YELLOW CABS are eternally new, for they are eternally clean.

There is no law compelling us to wash and fumigate each of our cabs every night—except the law of decency and common sense.

But this law is mandatory with us. For no other reason we annually spend a large sum of money in making every unit of our equipment as clean, sweet and spotless as your own home.

YELLOW CAB will never leave anything undone which contributes to the comfort and safety of our patrons. Have you ever noticed how seldom any part of the cab's equipment is missing or in poor condition?

The public shares with us as a stockholder. Dividends are collected after each ride in better service for less money.

Music Will Be Feature Of Service

The choir of Plymouth Congregational church will present a program of sacred classics under the direction of Lowell Redfield tomorrow evening. Plymouth solo quartet promises a continuance of its past renditions of duets and trios from oratorio.

Arthur McHoul, organist, was severely burned on his right arm and hand while trying to save his collection of music at the recent Berkeley fire. He will render by special request tomorrow Bonnet's "Romance-sans-Parole."

The choral has invited as assistants several singers of local fame and Ralph Brandt, violinist of the University of California, will be instrumental soloist of the evening.

Sermon subject by Rev. Clarence Reed:

11 A. M.: "I BELIEVE IN MEN"

There is a portion of the being of God enshrined in every person. Many people are opening the windows of their souls and are breathing the air of truth, freedom, love, joy and beauty. They believe that the best days are yet to come and the most wonderful knowledge of God awaits discovery. They do not think of themselves as sinners, outcasts or pilgrims on their way to a material heaven in the skies. The verified knowledge of the evolution of man through untold ages was the greatest scientific discovery of the nineteenth century.

He thinks that man must pass from blind trust in myths, traditions and superstitions to a vital belief based on reason, conscience and experience.

And give me a rhinoceros hide for a skin, and hang a wagon load of determination up in the gable-end of my soul, and help me to sign the contract to fight the devil as long as I've got a fist, and bite him as long as I've got a tooth, and then gum him till I die. Presbyterian Churches Plan Berkeley Exhibit

Eastbay Presbyterian churches plan to stage a world exhibit in the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, Oct. 1 to 4, utilizing about five hundred local participants in costumes and dramas representing various phases of life from sixteen different countries and sixty-seven nationalities.

Twenty-five separate booths will be constructed, each booth portraying some particular phase of missionary, educational, evangelistic or social service work of the Presbyterian denomination, each of the twenty-five Presbyterian churches in the Eastbay cities responsible for one of the exhibits. Then, on a central platform, there will be dramatizations visualizing the conditions of life in many lands and the needs of one hundred millions of people in the fifteen different foreign nations among whom the Presbyterian denomination operates. A special exhibits committee is in charge of this phase of the exposition, with Mrs. W. C. Geldert of San Francisco, chairman. A remarkable interest is being manifested in the local churches, and in all probability overflow meetings will be necessary to accommodate the crowds. There will be large delegations from Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and other communities covered by the Presbytery.

The exposition will open on Monday night, Oct. 1. On the afternoon of Oct. 2, a Women's mass meeting will be held, after which the women will make a "Tour of the World" under direction of specially selected and instructed guides. On the afternoon of Oct. 3 and 4, large delegations of children will come directly from the public schools, under adult escort, for their "Trips around the World" making a visit to the Indians, Alaskans, Mexicans, Southern Negroes, then across seas to Japan, China, Africa and other foreign fields where the Presbyterian missionaries are at work. Many of the churches are planning special transportation for their children in busses, automobiles and trolley car reservation.

What Bible principle will settle the Oklahoma muddle, and personal problems?

The Temple choir of fifty voices under the direction of Walter B. Kennedy will give special programs at both services. The anthems "Send Out Thy Light" by Gounod for the full chorus, and "Hark! Hark! My Soul" by Shelley for alto and soprano solo and full chorus will be rendered, and at the sacred concert an organ solo, violin solo, soprano solo and quartet number will be given.

THE MILLENNIUM--WHAT WILL IT BE LIKE?

For centuries this question has been obscure, many and long have been the controversies regarding it; but it has remained in comparative darkness until our day.

Now the light of God's word is illuminating it so that we are able to understand and comprehend it.

BERELEY, Sept. 29.—To guide students of the University of California in the selection of their books, professors have agreed to publish lists of novels and short stories which they believe are worth reading. Professor R. P. Utter, chairman of the English department, declared today there are only five novels and thirty short stories to read each year. The lists to be prepared by the instructors will be limited to this number of books.

Sport Decisions To Be Adjudged By Student Body

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Two professors of the University of California law school have been vited to appear before a student tribunal to show cause why they should not be punished for the decisions they gave in a recent baseball game between the members of legal fraternities on the campus. The professors are A. M. Kidd and T. R. Powell, who acted as umpires in the contest between Phi Delta Phi and Phi Alpha Delta.

The present dispute arose because of a challenge issued by a third organization which was ignored by the students. The challengers now seek to force the professors to explain their decisions so that court action may be started to "quiet title" to the law school championship honors.

GRAND OPENING TONIGHT
Dance every Saturday Eve.
NEW DIMOND HALL
3039 Hopkins St., Oakland
LUDWIG and HUSTON

Ready for the Pageant

MAVIS BURKE, who will take a leading part in the pageant, "The Days of Peralta," to be presented tonight in the Greek theater. Below is LLOYD STANFORD, University of California artist, adding a finishing touch to the scenery for the production.

Early Days of California Depicted at Closing Fete

All Dons will be admitted free today to "The Days of Peralta" pageant at the Greek theater which will bring the program of the Fiesta de la Laguna to a close this (Saturday) evening (September 29.)

The pageant will depict, through the medium of dance, tableau, music and the spoken word, customs and life of early California at the precise period during which the king of Spain granted to Don Luis Peralta the vast empire designated by the Dons of Peralta as the Land of Obapesla.

Back of the elimination of the admission fee for the Dons was the idea on the part of the board of governors of giving the modern Dons the opportunity of seeing how the ancient Dons lived, loved and played.

INCIDENTS AUTHENTIC.

The pageant is the work of George Cummings and Peter Rinehart and the incidents are declared to be absolutely authentic. These include, among others, an ancient Spanish wedding ceremony and the old Spanish festival of "The Battle of Eggs." A miniature rodeo will lend thrills to the program. The riders in this exhibition have been selected from participants in the famous Livermore rodeo. Two hundred and fifty girls are numbered in the ballets which will present the early Indian as well as the early Spanish dances. The dances are under the direction of Joseph Paget Fredericks, the University of California dancer who danced in support of Pavlowa and Marje Allen.

Among the actors participating in the cast is John Warfel, one of the principals in the Oakland Little Theater movement, and Fred Blanchard. A. Harrison, who takes the part of an Indian chief, boasts as his mother a California Indian princess. Among the University of California dramatic favorites who will appear are: Anita Avila, Lucian Self, Richard Onions, Fred Hirschler, Edison McLeod, T. H. Barrow and Eleanor McGregor. Burdette Spencer will be featured in a series of Spanish dances. The music is under the direction of Signor Antonio de Grassi, while Everett Glass, of the Greek theater staff, has complete charge of the production.

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—After announcing plans for the opening of a tented city in Codornices Park, City Manager John N. Edy is today holding in abeyance the construction of a camp for fire refugees.

Edy's announcement follows a conference held with J. W. Richardson, director of Red Cross relief, and George Hjelte, superintendent of playgrounds, which resulted in the following statement being made:

"A total of nine application representing 29 persons for the use of 20 tents have been received. An analysis of the applications indicates that while the accommodations proposed will represent a convenience, it is not clear that in all cases there is actual need for them. In order, therefore, that there may be no conflict between or duplication of effort by the city government and the erkeley Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee, it has been decided:

"That the construction or erection of a so-called tent city in Codornices Park will be deferred until the City Manager is requested by the Disaster Relief Committee to provide such accommodations. Applications already received for the use of tents are being referred to the Disaster Relief Committee, and applicants should communicate with the Case Sub-Committee of the Relief Committee at the City Hall."

Navy Supply Depot On S. F. Bay Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29. — While the ultimate solution of the naval supply and repair problem in this vicinity is held by navy authorities to be in the establishment of the Alameda base, the Navy Department is seeking to establish a naval supply depot in San Francisco, pending the establishment of the Alameda base.

Announcement to that effect was made yesterday at the headquarters of the Twelfth Naval District.

The depot, as proposed, is to be used for docking heavy transports and the handling and storing of commodities bought by the navy supply office in the San Francisco markets.

In connection with the proposed establishment of a temporary depot, Rear Admiral C. J. Peoples, navy purchasing and supply officer for San Francisco, stated that the supplies which the navy purchases here for the eer and for distant stations must, under present conditions, be shipped to Mare Island to be loaded on transports. Owing to the distance from this point to Mare Island, a large yearly loss to the government is said to have resulted.

Shortridge Approves Stand On Ship Sale

Sale of government vessels to the trans-Pacific steamship lines operating out of San Francisco bay, as suggested by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, meets with the approval of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge.

The Oakland chamber with that of San Francisco, urges the sale of five of the government vessels to the Pacific Mail company and sale of the remainder of the vessels now being operated by that company to the Admiral Oriental line, assuming the several bids for these vessels to be satisfactory in amount.

"If these vessels are to be sold and pass into private ownership, to be sailed under the American flag, I can see no escape from the views of our chambers of commerce which seem fair to both companies," said Senator Shortridge.

Alleaman Murder Case Opens Tuesday

The preliminary examination of Leland Alleaman, colored, who is charged with the murder of his aged father, Charles C. Alleaman, will be held Tuesday morning before Police Judge William J. Hennessey. The father died last Tuesday at the County Hospital from the injuries inicted by his son.

According to the police report on the morning of September 15, the son got out of bed and attacked his father with a large file.

Alleaman told Police Inspectors William Emigh and Tom Pardee that he did not know why he had attacked his father. He said early on the day of the attack his father had accused him of stealing $10 which he had given to him to purchase household supplies. The Alleaman family reside at 991 Thirty-sixth street.

Dry Cleaner's Is Cleaned Out by Dressy Burglars

SAN JOSE, Sept. 29. — San Jose society is on the verge of hysterics and the San Jose police have detailed a squad of men to discover where the annual ball of the burglar union is to be held this year, hoping to recover 20 dress suits and between 40 and 50 party dresses stolen last night from the French Benzol Dyeing & Cleaning Works, 133 North Fourth street. The entire contents of the store, except the fixtures, were taken by the burglars, who backed a truck to the side door and looted the place at their leisure. Nothing was left behind—not even a clue.

Warning Given To 'Old Maids' And Old Fogies

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—A woman who has reached the age of 26 is an "old maid, and a man of 24 is an "old fogy."

This is the declaration of Professor John Adams of London who warned the students of the University of California today that they must strike a balance between activity and loitering in order to make the most of their few remaining years of "maximum opportunity."

"Students of today," he said, "are within sight of the limit of real constructive learning to the best advantage." Professor Adams told the collegians that those who reached the "deadline" without proper equipment seldom were able to make good the lack of education.

At the same meeting Professor B. H. Lehman made a plea for the students of German universities, citing lack of fuel, food and clothing as threatening the existence of more institutions.

HOPE HELD FOR FULL PAYMENT OF FIRE TROOPS

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Hope that Berkeley's National Guard companies may receive compensation for services rendered in the recent fire was held out today by City Attorney Lemuel D. Sanderson and Colonel A. J. Eddy, commander of the 159th regiment, upon their return from Sacramento, where they conferred with Adjutant General J. J. Borree.

That General Borree has promised a "reconsideration" of the matter and will confer with Governor Friend W. Richardson, as soon as the latter is able to see him, was the statement this morning of Colonel Eddy.

As official representative of City Manager John N. Edy, City Attorney Sanderson laid the facts of the Berkeley fire emergency before General Borree, and explained efforts made by city officials to reach both the adjutant general and governor to obtain their approval to the call for the militia.

Colonel Eddy, who, in addition to being in command of Berkeley's National Guard units, is also city engineer, sought to convince General Borree that he was not guilty of "assuming unwarranted authority" in calling out the militia, as the adjutant general charged in a statement issued on Thursday when he refused to give his approval to the use of troops during the fire.

Sanderson submitted an official report today to the city manager covering the conference with General Borree. To the general he gave a detail report of the situation in Berkeley.

Bryan Opposes League of Nations

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—(By United Press.)—A firm stand stand against the League of Nations was taken by William Jennings Bryan in a speech before the Democratic club here. Bryan admitted that he was originally an out-and-out league supporter, then a reservationist and at present he is still for "any reasonable movement against war."

"However, I subscribe to nothing that would give Signor Mussolini the right to say that we must send our army to fight Italy's battles, nor to Monsieur Poincare the right to call on our army and navy to support France in the Ruhr."

Burglars Raid State Laboratory

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Burglars last night gained entrance to the California State Pure Food Laboratories on the University of California campus and escaped with platinum dishes valued at $1400. Jewelry and other valuables to the extent of about $600 were taken from the home of Mrs. Marie Montbalais, 2719 Garber street, where a burglar gained entrance through a window by climbing a trellis.

U. C. Pianist Here On Way to East

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Albert King, former University of California student, arrived in Berkeley today on his way to New York to fill a number of engagements as piano soloist. King was a member of the glee club for several years. Since leaving the university he has been successful in concert work. He will sail for Europe at the end of the New York musical seaso.

Berkeley Mayor Issues Renewed Appeal for Aid

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Mayor Frank D. Stringham today issued a renewed appeal for funds for Berkeley fire refugees. Up to date, $40,000 had been spent for immediate relief and it was stated, that that amount would not begin to cover the relief necessary.

Mayor Stringham issued the following statement:

"All relief has been given on a standard basis of computation, taking into consideration the comparative needs of each individual. We shall need more funds. But it may be easily understood that even with the exercise of the greatest generosity on the part of the city of Berkeley and others, we cannot approach complete rehabilitation.

"We wish to retain the residents of Berkeley who lost their homes and we wish them to know that governmental and relief agencies will make a long-continued effort to give them substantial, intelligent assistance."

In his statement the mayor also tells of the work that has been done and praises those who have been doing relief work.

"TO THE LADIES" MEETS APPROVAL OF BIG AUDIENCE

Wheeler Hall Season Opened With Very Successful Offering.

By WOOD SOANES.

Few plays and practically no comedies will stand the acid test of a second viewing without casting the inveterate theatergoer into the depths of boredom.

"To the Ladies" is the exception to the rule. It was selected by the Greek Theater Players for the opening of their winter season at Wheeler hall in Berkeley last night and it stood the test nobly.

The delicious satire, the interesting dissection of the male of the species and the kindly joshing of the American Babbitt was just as refreshing to this reviewer as if it were brand new.

TALENTED AMATEURS.

Perhaps it was the presentation. At any rate it is not to be denied that the work of those talented amateurs who people the Greek Theater Players was most capable in almost every instance. The comedy slurrings were few and far between and there was much more to commend than to condemn even if the desire were for the latter.

To Harold Minger and Lois Austin went the chief honors, because to them went the "fat" roles of Leonard and Elsie, the two youngsters who are used by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly to demonstrate their theory concerning the utter helplessness of the male and his complete dependence on some female, preferably a wife.

CAST WELL BALANCED.

Minger gave a delightful reading of Leonard, emphasizing and making capital of the slightest comedy scene and reading and playing with a naturalness that would have done justice to a professional long familiar with the role. Miss Austin was delicious as Elsie, the competent pseudo-clinging vine, giving the character proper shadings throughout and never forgetting the soft Southern drawl that belonged to the part.

In addition to these two John Herzog, Harry De Lesaux and Mildred French came in for the plaudits of the crowd that comfortably filled the auditorium. Herzog as John Kincaid was highly competent and scored continually; De Lesaux played the small part of the speech-making politician and played it splendidly, and Miss French endowed a minute part with life and comeliness.

"ADMIRABLY DONE."

Albert Stern lessened his success by dependence on facial tricks too constantly repeated; Fern Weaver played a small role acceptably, and the balance of the cast included Clayton Lane, Conrad Kahn, Eugene Norman, Anita S. Wejkel, Agnes Newton and Lella H. Reynolds.

"To the Ladies" was presented under the direction of Dan Totheroh in three acts and two scenes and was admirably done when consideration is taken of the difficulties attendant on the presentation of a play in Wheeler hall with its meager stage equipment.

Fire Salvage Ends In Berkeley Tonight

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Berkeley's corporation yard at Addison and West streets will be closed tonight at a clearing house for "lost and found" articles of fire refugees.

Although there is still a large collection of clothing and furnishings at the yard, the police declare that, if these things are not called for by tonight, other disposition will be made of them. The clothing will be turned over to the Red Cross for distribution among fire refugees.

All persons who have belongings which they have not yet located are urged to visit the corporation yard.

Upper Classmen Combine to Put Nostalgia Out

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—Lonely students at the University of California will be entertained by the College Welfare Council and an effort will be made by collegians to overcome the handicap imposed by the size of the student body. Freshmen, students from other nations, and those who have come to California from eastern universities have complained to student officers that they have been unable to make friends and that the attitude of the Californians may cause them to leave the university.

To introduce the new entrants to members of their own class and to upper classmen, a number of events have been arranged by the student council. Tonight foreign students will meet at the college Y. M. C. A. Last night a "mixer" was held in the student union for the purpose of introducing freshmen to the members of the faculty.

Senior women have undertaken the task of finding friends for freshmen and luncheons will be held every day so that the new students may meet and be introduced to upper classmen. Women's clubs have agreed to entertain at tea each week during the semester and all new students will be invited to attend. A special organization for collegians who have transferred from other universities has been established by the council.

Hillside Area Residents Fight Dumping Plan

BERKELEY, Sept. 29. — A fight to prevent the propose use of a canyon at the east end of Le Conte avenue as a dumping place for fire refuse has been instituted by property owners of the hillside area. Petitions have been filed with Miss Emma Hann, city clerk, protesting the purported plans to use the canyon as a dumping place.

Rev. James P. Towey, rector of Newman hall; Mrs. Marion Wilkins, 2711 Le Conte avenue, and Mrs. Cordelia Wright, 2625 Le Conte avenue, head the list of 50 signers on the protest which reads as follows:

"There is a plan afoot to use the canyon at the east end of Le Conte avenue as a dumping place for the fire debris. Preliminary steps have been taken.

"Residents of this region deplore any such use of this beautiful canyon, and we feel sure that the citizens of Berkeley, when they realize the result of such action, will join with us in protesting such use.

"The financial reverses of this city may make it impossible at present to carry out a system of parks, but we have in this canyon a natural park not costing us a cent. It should not be sacrificed. In addition to the unsightly appearance of this dump, an expensive reinforced concrete culvert, of size sufficient to carry out the water from a large water shed, will be required at a time when we can ill afford it. Otherwise, pools of stagnant water will form breeding places for disease carrying mosquitoes."

BERKELEY ROOFS IN FUTURE MUST BE FIREPROOFED

Council Passes Ordinance Regulating All New Construction.

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—The Berkeley city council last night guarded against the repetition of a disaster such as wiped out 1000 homes last week by passing to print an ordinance which will make fireproof roofs compulsory on all new dwellings throughout the city. Provisions are included for old structures which will eventually give Berkeley an entirely "fireproof" community.

Representatives of lumber interests and of firms selling "fireproof" paint for shingles protested the ordinance last night while F. E. Andrews, chief engineer of the Pacific Coast division of the board of underwriters, and representatives of the citizens' advisory committee as well as other citizens urged its passage.

PROTESTS MADE.

Roofs of new structures in Berkeley must be covered with concrete, brick, tile, terra-cotta, slate, galvanized iron or tin, or some other incumbustible material. Violation of the ordinance is made a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum fine of $500 or a jail sentence or both.

Discussion on the new ordinance was opened by Former Mayor Samuel C. Irving of Berkeley, following its reading by Dr. Carol Aronovici, consultant to the city planning commission. Irving praised the ordinance as the most complete of its kind which could be drawn. As a citizen and as a representative of the California Redwood association and Retail Lumbermen's association, E. F. Hammett, 836 The Alameda, submitted a long written protest from the organizations in which he was interested.

MEASURE UNANIMOUS.

F. E. Andrews of the board of fire underwriters, declared that Berkeley's fire was a perfect example of flying fire-brands and said that the wooden shingle is most effective in spreading a blaze. Representatives of firms selling fireproof painted shingles voiced a chorus of protest and immediately staged an exhibition before the council in which blazing torches were placed directly against various kinds of building material to demonstrate their arguments.

Professor Samuel C. May halted the exhibition by declaring his intention of voting for the ordinance, after which a letter was read from the citizens' rehabilitation committee urging the measure's passage. Building Inspector Robert Greig, who with City Attorney Lemual Sanderson drafted the new law, explained the measure and it was adopted by unanimous vote.

Anderson in charge of the senior department and Mrs. Mary Lillansen heading the junior section, as announced by Rev. L. I. Hansen, pastor.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA GOLFERS IN STATE TOURNEY

CARDINAL PLAYERS SHOW FINE FORM WHEN THEY DEFEAT MARE ISLAND TEAM 82 TO 0

Rudy Wilhelm Vanquished by F. Wright, Jr.

Jack Neville, Johnny McHugh and George Ritchie Northern Semi-Finalists.

DEL MONTE, Cal., Sept. 29.—Three of northern California's best golfers and one from southern California remained undefeated last night and eligible for the semi-finals today in the struggle for the California amateur golf championship.

The last of the invading aspirants for titular honors was vanquished from the race when Fred Wright Jr., eliminated Rudy Wilhelm, of Portland, former Pacific Northwest champion with a stymie on the thirty-first green.

The four survivors of the field of 300 golfers who teed off Monday are Jack Neville, of Claremont, present titleholder; Johnny McHugh, bay counties champion; George Ritchie, northern California titleholder, and Fred Wright Jr., of Los Angeles, former Massachusetts champion.

In the semi-finals today Neville plays McHugh and Wright meets Ritchie.

LURED GALLERY.

The match between Wilhelm and Wright yesterday lured to the Pebble Beach course the largest gallery of the tournament.

Wilhelm's game yesterday reflected only dimly his sensational performance of Thursday when he ousted his fellow northerner, Clare Griswold, and set a course record. His putting was weak and repeatedly, in the morning round, his ball stopped at the lip of the cup.

The terrific wallop from the tee on the 340-yard third hole set a driving record in distance for the tournament, when the ball stopped hole high, five feet from the cup. At this point, however, Wilhelm's putting slump set in with severity, and he took three more strokes to get down.

Good fortune trailed Wright, whose play was so uniform that on almost every hole of the morning round he was putting confidently for birdies and pars. At the end of the first eighteen he was three up.

NEVER IN DOUBT.

The match between Neville and Foley was never in doubt at any stage. A lead of five holes established by the titleholder in the morning was increased after noon. Neville won, 10 to 8, without extending himself.

McHugh blotted out Claude Edwards under a smother of pars and birdies in the second half of their relief after Edwards had succeeded in holding the slashing young San Francisco player all square in the morning.

George Ritchie, displaying the form and steadiness that made him northern state champion, after loafing through the morning play, which he ended two down to W. W. Campbell of Los Angeles, proved in the afternoon that tournament golf is him game. He won handily, 5 to 4, over a tired opponent.

Results yesterday follow:

Gene Sarazen-Walter Hagen In Semi-Finals

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Easy and colorless victories came yesterday to Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen in the semi-final round of the Professional Golfers' Association tournament and they will meet today for the title that both have had the honor of winning in other years.

Sarazen, winner of the championship last year, disposed of Robert Cruickshank of the Schackamaxon club at Westfield, N. J. at the thirty-first hole of their match, 7 up and 5 to play. Hagen, champion of the professionals in 1921, eliminated "Dapper George" McLean of the Grassy Sprain club, Bronxville, N. Y., 12 and 11.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Mrs. Milton Bernard was playing at the top of her game yesterday and easily led the field in the Sequoyah Invitation tournament. The Sequoyah champion was getting a long ball from the tees and playing her usual accurate pitch shots close to the pin, her medal score was 84-6-78.

Miss Alice Knowles the Claremont captain was second with 90-8-82. Mrs. Wilson S. Hatch was third with a score of 105-21-84. Mrs. Hatch is the Captain of the Berkeley club. Had Mrs. Bernard still been captain of the Sequoyah Club the fact of the three club captains being 1st, 2nd and 3rd would have been a coincidence. Mrs. W. Johnstone of the California Club finished 4th with 104-19-85 and Mrs. C. G. Knight of the home club 5th with 103-17-85.

Eighteen players participated in the sweepstake tournament while many more were present but did not enter the tournament. The leading scores and list of players were as follows:

Mrs. Milton Bernard, Sequoyah—78.
Miss Alice Knowles, Claremont—82
Mrs. Wilson S. Hatch, Berkeley—84.
Mrs. W. Johnstone, California—85.
Mrs. C. G. Knight, Sequoyah—86.
Mrs. C. B. Joeckel, Berkeley.
Mrs. R. H. Madden, Berkeley.
Mrs. A. V. Thompson, Berkeley.
Mrs. Prior, Los Angeles.
Mrs. H. A. Prole, Claremont.
Mrs. R. R. Yates, Claremont.
Mrs. C. A. Stacy, Diablo.
Mrs. J. F. Corkery, California.
Mrs. George Vesper, Sequoyah.
Mrs. J. J. Valentine, Sequoyah.
Mrs. Archie Andrew, Sequoyah.
Mrs. O. Fillinghouse, Sequoyah.
Mrs. R. Shurtliff, Sequoyah.

The course was in splendid condition. A new cross bunker has been introduced at the short 14th which will prevent topped tee shots reaching near to the green. Smaller traps to the right and left of the green are contemplated by Clarence Graham and his green committee.

Williams Leads in Homers for an Hour

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals held this season's home-run leadership for about one hour yesterday when he poled his 38th round trip, with none on, of Marquard, in the first inning with Boston at Philadelphia. Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees, however, laced out his 38th in the sixth inning of Ehmke of the Red Sox at Boston, again tying the home-run score.

Billy Mascott in Draw With Foley

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 29.—Billy Mascott of Portland Ore., and Vic Foley of Vancouver, claimant to the bantamweight championship of Canada, boxed ten fast rounds to a draw here last night. Two weeks ago Mascot was given the decision over Foley in the same ring.

Dempsey Not Given Permission to Box

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Neither Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, nor any other professional boxer may appear in the ring in Los Angeles, event at a benefit performance, because amateurs only are permitted to box by the California law, it was stated in an opinion given by the city attorney's office today to the municipal board of police commissioners.

WINS SALEM PACE.

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 29.—Linnie C., owned by A. Schwartz and driven by her owner, won the 2:10 pace at Lone Oak track yesterday in straight heats, her best time, in the first heat being 2:08¼.

Lee King Hits Two Homers As Oaks Lose

Harry Krause Outpitched By Rube Yarrison Of Portland Beavers.

PORTLAND, Sept. 29.—Home runs by Lee King and Jimmy Poole, and the pitching of Rube Yarrison for the Portland Beavers, were the features of yesterday's ball game in which the Beavers defeated the Oaks 7 to 0. The Oaks did not have a ghost of a show against the pitching of Yarrison, who allowed only five hits and was given perfect support in the field by his teammates.

Harry Krause did the twirling for the Oaks, and the score does not indicate the good pitching that he did. The three homers by the Beavers were made at his expense. In the opening round Lee King hit a ball over the right field wall, and in the third inning he gave the fans another treat by hitting one into the center field bleachers for his second homer.

Jim Poole opened the fourth inning with a homer over the right field fence. In the same inning Cox doubled, took third when Jones was safe on Cather's error and scored on Daly's sacrifice fly.

Poor baseball by the Oaks gave the Beavers another in the sixth. Poole got a walk and was forced by Brazil, who was helped to second on Maderas' wild throw, and Read, in recovering the ball, left the plate uncovered and Brazil scored.

Roy Hobson, a rookie southpaw, took the mound in the eighth for the Oaks and was touched for two runs, although Cox got the only hit off him. Stumpf walked, High sacrificed and Poole walked. The runners advanced on a wild pitch and Stumpf scored when the ball went into the Oaks' dugout. Cox's double scored Poole.

Leptich, a Portland rookie, went to the bat for Krause in the eighth inning and fanned. The score:

Ray Rohwer Has Quite a Record As Homer Hitter

Ray Rohwer, former TRIBUNE Leaguer and a graduate from the University of California, would today be the holder of the Coast League home run record but for the fact that both Paul Strand and Leslie Sheehan are with the Salt Lake Bees. The league record until this season was thirty-three and was made by Bill Rumler and Earl Sheely, both members of the Salt Lake Bees a few years ago. This season both Strand and Sheehan passed that mark, Strand now having forty-one and Sheehan thirty-five. Their records are remarkable, but maybe after taking all things into consideration the mark of thirty-four, now claimed by Ray Rohwer, is just as remarkable.

Rohwer reached the thirty-four mark yesterday afternoon when he got two home runs in the game at Seattle. Rohwer played only two series at Salt Lake, while Sheehan and Strand played half their games at Salt Lake. Rohwer has hit homers on every lot of the Coast League and even put two over the right field fence in one game at Oakland. He bats from the first-base side of the plate, but got homers off the southpaw pitchers almost as frequent as he does off right-handers.

"Ping" Bodie's record of thirty homers in one season remained for a long time until Salt Lake was given a place in the league and then Rumler and Sheely shattered it. Rohwer's record is one he can be proud of and there is very little chance of him remaining in the minors another season, as major league club owners will pay almost anything for a hitter of his type. Rohwer was with Pittsburgh last season.

Broadway Bill's Sport Weekly Review by Bob Shand

The eastern writers are apologizin' for their favorite fighters who took a tip from Horace an' came west and if there is anythin' these imported eastern fighters need it is apologizin'. Back in the shadow of Madison Square Garden they're sayin' that none of the good eastern boxers came west that all we saw was the "shadows" of the once great. That's Tad's alibi. Tad ain't been here lately or he would know just how tough these little four-rounders of ours are. They're the hardest gents in the game to beat.

REMEMBER KID LEWIS

It ain't hard to remember when Ted Lewis done his stuff at Emeryville vs. Battling Ortega. Ted was the world's welterweight champion, but after Ortega got through with him he looked like somethin' the cat had fetched in. Of course Jim Griffin laughin'ly called it a draw, Jimmy Johnston, Lewis' manager, giggled an' the fans cussed an' laughed alternately. When Jimmy got home he told of how an unknown Mexican out in California had made a sucker out of his champion. However, that was in 1917. Here's some later facts:

BUFF WAS BLOOMER

Johnny Buff, who was born John Lesky, won both the bantamweight and flyweight titles in 1921 and a year or so later he comes west to knock off a few four-rounders. The first guy he tackled was Joe Lynch, practically a beginner, and Joe took the decision. Then Johnny went to Fresno and was knocked down twice by Teddy Silva, an Oakland kid. Silva won so far that the next day Buff and his manager leave for the east without even sayin' good-bye.

Jack Sharkey came here with a great reputation an' Johnny Farr, who has been boxing only about a year, made him look like a novice. Sharkey went to Los Angeles to get licked by George Marks.

PELKEY BEAT FISHER

An' in the last three weeks three prominent eastern fighters have been taken into camp. Young Fisher, who was said to be better than the champion, gets knocked down seven times in two rounds by Ray Pelkey, a fair trial horse here. Phil Salvatore takes Richie Mitchell into camp and Frankie Farren makes Cal Delaney look foolish.

Little Dynamite Murphy licks the famous Harold Farese after Joe Leopold had boxed a draw with Harold, and then Farese gets tossed out of the ring for stallin' with Frankie Munro.

If there is any good welterweight in the east that don't care nothin' about acceptin' a boxing lesson, Hymie Gold, alias Jimmy Duffy, ain't doin' nothing. Hymie was givin' Lew Tendler a lickin' one night in the east when his smart New York second told him to stay in his corner an' he would win on a foul. He didn't, but Hymie was ready to continue fightin'.

THEY ARE REAL TOUGH

Bobby Barrett hung a lucky one on Duffy but the west got revenge lately when Sailor Goldman, a preliminary fighter from here, gave the Barrett boy a neat pastin'.

An' remember Barney Adair an' Bobby North an' the others? It's worth repeatin'—these little four-rounders are tough; what I mean.

Cards Trounce Gobs 82-0 in Opening Game

"Scotchy" Campbell Leads Stanford Team in Scoring With 25 Points.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 29.—Stanford University's cardinal eleven defeated the Mare Island Naval Hospital team 82 to 0 in a practice game here yesterday. The sailors, who held Santa Clara College to a 13 to 7 score last week, apparently were out of condition and crippled by the injury of several valuable players.

Coach Kerr of the Cardinals used every man on his squad during the game in an effort to obtain a lineup on his men to aid him in selecting first string regulars for the contest with Nevada next week.

Captain Campbell, Stanford quarterback, starred for the Cardinals, making 25 of his team's total points.

The game developed into a one-sided and uninteresting contest from the opening whistle, Stanford registering the first points of the game two minutes after the Mare Island boys had kicked off, Murray making the touchdown on a well executed criss-cross.

Campbell followed with a second score a few minutes later after a brilliant 25-yard run.

At the end of the first half the Cards were leading 34 to 0, Ernie Nevers, Dennis and Woodward all having had a large part in the scoring.

Coach Kerr's men had a big advantage in weight over the Gobs, the average being fifteen pounds per man.

The line-ups:

Bambino Ruth May Yet Lead League Hitters

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Babe Ruth today faces a fighting chance of adding the American league batting championship to his laurels with the close of the season less than a week away.

The New York star must overcome a 10-point lead held by Harry Heilman of Detroit to accomplish this achievement. He now has an average of .385 while Heilmann is pounding away at a 395 clip.

Eddie Collins of the White Sox continues to lead the base stealers with 44.

Other leading batters for 90 or more games:

Speaker, Cleveland, .375; J. Sewell, Cleveland .360; Williams, St. Louis, .353; E. Collins, Chicago, .353; Jamieson, Cleveland, .344; Cobb, Detroit, .343.

St. Mary's and Fremont High in Scoreless Tie

Playing before one of the largest prep gatherings of the season, the high school football teams of Fremont and St. Mary's yesterday battled to a scoreless tie on the Boulevard field. Both teams had chances to cross the goal line, but lacked the power to push the pigskin over. The Saints relied on the aerial game quite often, which was considerably mussed up by the Green and Gold.

Coach Andrews' outfit, trained under the Notre Dame system, came nearer to the goal line than did their opponents. In the third period a 20-yard pass, Maloney to Collins, and a series of line plunges carried the ball to the 5-yard line, but the Saints could not penetrate the Fremont line and lost the oval on downs.

Bill Mallen and Al Tobin starred for the Broadway eleven, while Kinsey, Wilson and Aldredge shared the honors for Coach Vosper's crew. Tobin, in particular, played a fine game at tackle, mussing up many plays, running interference in college fashion and many times carrying the ball for considerable yardage.

Captain Murphy Features When Berkeley Hi Wins

Captain Mike Murphy, slippery as an eel, and as foxy as they make 'em, shared all the limelight yesterday on the Berkeley high field, when the Yellowjacket football machine whitewashed University High, 40 to 0. Murphy scored every one of the winner's points on line plunges, end runs, forward passes and everything else that goes with the make-up of a good halfback.

All in all it was quite a nice affair—for Mike Murphy. In the first half Murphy made only two touchdowns, the first on a line plunge and the second on a series of bucks after Clymer carried the oval for a 40-yard gain.

Assisted by good interference Murphy went over for a quartet of touchdowns in the second half, while the Bassmen looked helplessly on. Yes, it was a grand and glorious afternoon for the little Berkeley pilot.

Giants Cinch National Flag; Third in Row

McGraw's Men Blank Brooklyn in Deciding Game; Ninth Pennant.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Well, that's over. The New York Giants yesterday made sure of the National League pennant and the entire world's series again will be played in New York this year. The McGraw men put on the final touches by defeating Brooklyn, 3 to 0. This year's flag is the third the Giants have hung out in succession, and the ninth they have had altogether.

The Yankees ran around the bases so fast and so often that they tired themselves all out, scoring 24 runs to 4 for Boston. Babe Ruth got back into his hard-hitting habit and pounded out five hits, including a homer, his 38th and a pair of doubles.

The Detroit Tigers moved a notch nearer to second place in the American League by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 17 to 3. Cy Williams pounded out his 38th homer of the season, keeping abreast of the Babe.

Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox stole his 45th base of the season in the game which St. Louis won.

George Sisler of the St. Louis Americans, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Nationals and Urban Shocker of the Browns witnessed the White Sox-St. Louis game from the grandstand. It was estimated that about $600,000 worth of baseball talent was represented by the trio.

The New York Americans crashed out 30 hits for a total of 44 bases and swamped the Boston Red Sox 24 to 4.

Ray Grimes of the Chicago Nationals knocked his club into its second straight victory over Pittsburgh when he drove in the tying run with a triple and then put the game on ice by cracking the ball into the bleachers for a homer.

Pittsburgh Team Has Option on McCann

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 29.—After no fewer than five inquiries from major league clubs asking the Portland baseball club to quote a price on Emmet McCann, second baseman, had been received at the club's offices here than Pittsburgh got a 48-hour option on the player for $50,000 yesterday, according to Fred B. Rivers, secretary of the club.

Other major league clubs that sent out "feelers" over the telegraph wire were the Boston Red Sox and the Boston Braves, the Philadelphia Nationals and Detroit.

Brooklyn, which recently purchased Pitcher Yarrison and Shortstop Jones from the Beavers for $50,000, had been conducting negotiations for McCann, previous to yesterday's influx of wire messages from the east, Rivers said.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Eddie Roberts, Oakland welterweight, won a decision over George Lavigne of Los Angeles in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium last night. Art Springer and Frankie Novey, Los Angeles 118-pounders, met in a fast give-and-take special preliminary, with Springer emerging the victor.

Thoroughbred Horse Arrives Like a Prince

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Papyrus of England landed from the Aquitania at the Cunard pier at the foot of Fourteenth street at 8 o'clock today.

Majestically he strode down an 80-foot gangplank, covered and carpeted. Crowds cheered, traffic policemen were on guard. It looked like the arrival of a foreign prince or prizefighter.

As the English Derby winner set foot on the pier he pricked up his ears at the cheers, then became indignant. He danced and pranced. For a moment it appeared as though he might do a high dive into the North River.

He refused to pose for photographers and rushed into a padded two-stall motor drive horse [illegible]

SHIPS AND SHIPPING
News of Oakland Waterfront

Edited by FRANK CLIFF.

GOVERNMENT IS TO SELL FORMER GERMAN LINERS

Shipping Board Figures It Too Costly to Try to Recondition Vessels.

Reconditioning of the former German liners in the Shipping Board fleet which are at present laid up is considered unpracticable by board members.

Included in this class are the Agamemnon, the Mount Vernon, the Von Steuben and the Hamberg, as well as a few of the smaller ex-German liners. Thus far, however, there has been no statement as to what plans the board has for disposing of the vessels. It is understood that representatives of German ship lines have inspected the Agamemnon and Mount Vernon with the view of making an offer, but thus far no sale has been authorized by the board.

The reconditioning of the Agamemnon and Mount Vernon was determined upon at one time by the Shipping Board and it was believed that they could be put into commission at a cost of about $8,000,000. The navy, before returning the two liners to the Shipping Board after their hard use as naval transports, spent several million dollars on the two liners. After the plans for the reconditioning of the liners had progressed to a rather advanced stage, it was ascertained that $8,000,000 was far too low; that it would cost nearer $15,000,000 to convert them into first class trans-Atlantic liners of an oil burning type.

As both of the liners are more than twenty years old, it was decided to call off the reconditioning program and abandon this plan.

If none of the responsible American companies desire to buy the ex-German ships for the purpose of putting them in commission under the American flag, it is possible that the program to be adopted to deal with the idle ships will call for sales to foreign buyers, if such procedure would bring the Shipping Board substantially more money than could be obtained through the sale of the liners for junking purposes. That the sale of the ships would carry with it the condition that they should not be used in the North Atlantic service in competition with American and Shipping Board tonnage is generally expected.

At the present time, the board, engaged in the study of other more pressing questions, is not actively considering what shall be done with the vessels. However, Chairman Farley stated that the ships were not regarded as commercially possible.

That the Agamemnon and Mount Vernon could be reconditioned in foreign yards more cheaply than in American is conceded here. When German yards recover from the effects of the Ruhr occupation it is believed that they might be advantageously situated to undertake the work if the board decided to sell them to a foreign flag.

FLEET HOLDS TO STEADY SERVICE TO EAST COAST

Pacific Mail Consistent in Sailings to Ports on Atlantic.

One of the most consistent services operating between San Francisco bay and Atlantic coast ports is proving to be that of the Pacific Mail service. A fleet of five freighters and three combination freight and passenger vessels is maintained by the veteran Pacific company in this service.

The passenger liners make their sailings once every twenty-three days, while the freighters are leaving once every ten days. Both types of vessels pass through the Panama canal and make calls at Los Angeles. The freighters also stop at Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York!

The passenger fleet consists of the Ecuador, Colombia and the Venezuela. The freighters are the Santa Clara, Santa Malta, Santa Olivia, Santa Rosa and Santa Paula.

The Santa Rosa will be the next of the fleet to leave this port. She is carrying out a full cargo of California canned fruit as well as a large shipment of general merchandise. She also gathered a large consignment of canned goods in Puget Sound ports before coming to the bay.

American-Hawaiian To Give Up Agency

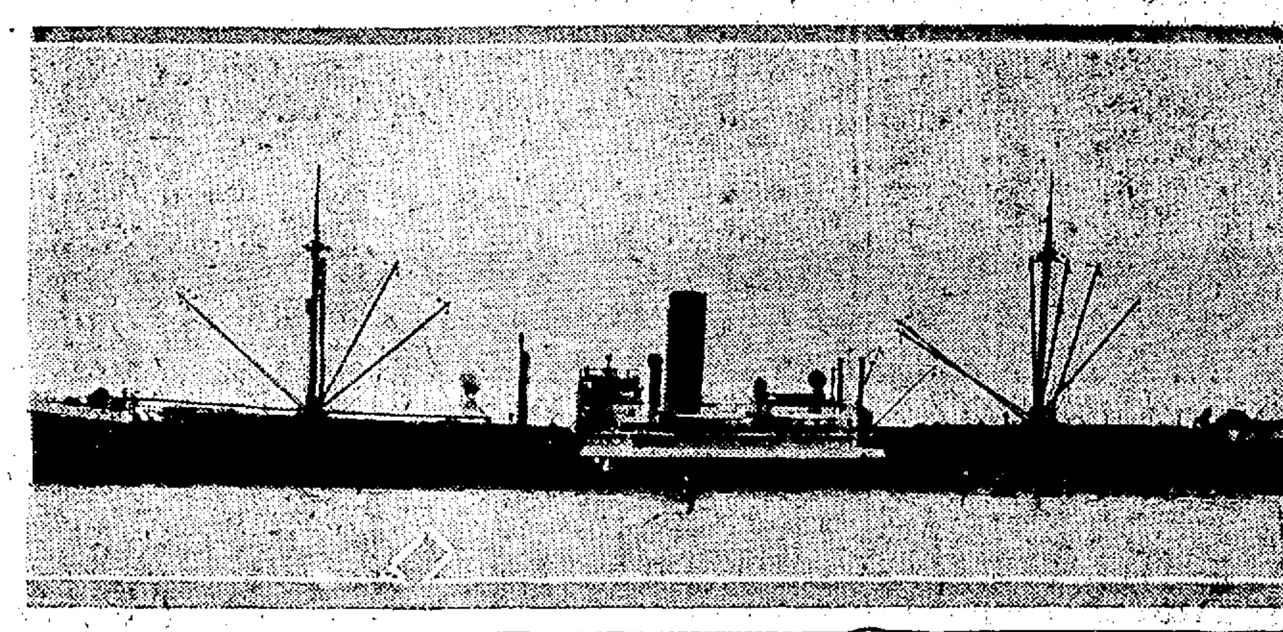

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 28.—Formal announcement was made today by representatives of the American-Hawaiian Line that following the return of the German steamer Hessen from northern ports that concern will relinquish the Southern California agency of the joint service of the United American, Hamburg-American and Kosmos lines.

The Hessen is now at this port and is expected to return from the north about October 26.

The United American lines have announced a schedule of its vessels to establish a new intercoastal service. The Williams Line has announced the chartering of the steamer Delecto to augment its intercoastal service, which will sail for this port from New York on October 14.

A Unit in Consistent Service Between Coasts

The freighter SANTA CLARA of the Pacific Mail Company is one of a fleet of eight ships engaged in the intercoastal service. Three of the vessels are c ombination freight and passenger liners, while the others handle only general cargo.

Shipbuilding Men Seek Firmer Organization

Appoint a Nation-wide Committee to Carry On Yard Investigation.

Charged with the investigation of general conditions as effecting shipyards and ship repair plants over the entire country, a committee headed by J. Harry Mull, president and general manager of the William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building company, last week established headquarters in the offices of the Atlantic Coast Shipbuilders' association in Philadelphia and began a study of the varied problems of the industry, with the view of formulating recommendations that will insure a permanent future for American shipbuilding, reports the New York Journal of Commerce.

The findings of the committee will be acted upon at the forthcoming American Marine Congress to be held in New York City November 5-10, when representatives of all groups interested in water transportation will meet to consider the nation's maritime problems in all of their various phases. The aim of the conference is to evolve a shipping program which will bring about a unity of purpose and co-ordination of effort throughout all industry, from the manufacturer who supplies the materials used in the construction of ships to the industrial groups whose products furnish the cargoes.

The co-operation of more than 200 American plans engaged in all branches of shipbuilding and marine repair work is sought in a communication which goes forward today from the shipyards committee pointing out the need for coordinated action and inviting the views of all shipyards executives as to subjects to be considered upon which definite recommendations can be formulated and placed before the American Marine Congress.

Associated with Mull on the shipyards committee are several of America's foremost shipbuilders, namely, John G. Pew, president Sun Shipbuilding & Dry Dock company, Chester, Pa.; H. G. Smith, vice-president Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Bethlehem, Pa.; E. P. Morse, president Morse Dry Dock & Repair company, Brooklyn, N. Y., and J. J. Tynan, general manager Union Plant, Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, San Francisco, Cal.

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN ARE ASSURED SHIPS TO REMAIN

Dollar Line Official Says San Francisco Bay Will Keep Five Boats.

Regardless of whether the Shipping Board sells the ten "President" ships now operating on the Pacific to the Dollar Steamship Company or to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco will not lose any of its ocean-going commerce. This assurance has been given here by the Dollar company following recommendations by the local Chamber of Commerce that the ten vessels be sold to the Pacific Mail Company.

According to H. M. Lorber, vice-president of the Dollar line, five of the ten ships now being operated out of Seattle by the Admiral Oriental line will continue to run from that port if they are sold to his concern.

Ten of these vessels are now operating on the Pacific. The Pacific Mail Company runs five of them out of San Francisco, while the Dollar company has five operating from Seattle under the Admiral-Oriental line flag. The former concern has put in bids for these five while the Dollar interests want all ten vessels.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1923

PAY THE GUARDS.

Those Berkeleyans whose property was guarded during the recent fire will regret the petty technicality which is to deprive of the pay to which they are entitled those members of the National Guard who answered the call of their colonel.

When a large section of Berkeley was burning and the flames were racing incredibly swift toward the business center of the city there was no one there, fire expert or civilian, who did not think a much wider area was doomed. A strong wind threw the flames out straight as from a blowtorch. Houses were falling with every minute.

It was then that Lieutenant-Colonel A. J. Eddy, a seasoned army man who had gone through the experience of the San Francisco fire, realized the need of troops to protect the homes on the borders of the conflagration from looters, to guard that property which might be left in the embers. There was no time to be lost and yet the effort was made to reach Governor Friend W. Richardson, a former Berkeley resident, and Adjutant-General J. J. Borree, at Sacramento. They could not be found.

Lieutenant-Colonel Eddy acted upon his own responsibility and called out the troops who responded in a way to make the soldier proud. It is significant that in that interim of delay looters broke into a shoe store on Shattuck avenue. The ghouls had arrived and were at work. There is no criticism in Berkeley for the officer who called out the troops and the word which came from Sacramento yesterday refusing to approve the act has caused surprise.

Those guardsmen cannot receive their pay until Governor Richardson approves the call issued by Lieutenant-Colonel Eddy. The announcement has been made by Adjutant-General Borree, that the approval will not be forthcoming because Colonel Eddy's order was "an unwarranted assumption of authority."

Six hundred and forty-one homes were burned. All of Berkeley and even Oakland was threatened and might have burned had the wind continued. The air was full of falling embers and roofs were blazing up here and there all over the Eastbay. It is difficult to persuade the people of Berkeley that the call for the guards was unwarranted.

The situation is in every way unfortunate. The guards who assembled so promptly performed a valuable service and are entitled to their pay. It will be remembered that they were relieved as quickly as possible by University cadets, sailors from the Training School, and Oakland and San Francisco policemen and that all of this service was given to the state. It will also be recalled that the State is not without its obligations in protecting the hills and forests from fire and that Lieutenant-Colonel Eddy who issued the call was first in command when he could not reach his superior at Sacramento.

If no other method can be found The TRIBUNE suggests in the most friendly spirit that Governor Richardson make use of a part of the emergency funds which the State supplies him, and from this fund pay the National Guardsmen who protected the property of hundreds of Californians. The Governor is allowed $5000 a year for secret service and $9200 a year for postage, traveling and contingent. For the biennium this amounts to $28,400. There is an additional $17,500 for the upkeep of his residence.

The suggestion is that out of the secret service fund, which would more than pay the bill, the Guardsmen who performed work of that nature in protecting property of the Governor's fellow citizens from looters, may be paid.

THE SECOND YEAR.

This part of California is to start upon its second year of advertising. In October the campaign of Californians, Inc., will be opened.

No one denies the good which came out of the first year. There have never been so many inquiries received by the chambers of commerce in the various cities of this region, there have never been so many tourists, and all reports are to the effect that the publicity campaign figured largely in bringing this about.

Without question Californians, Inc., has learned much in its year of experience. Northern California has profited by the generous contributions of San Franciscans to the fund. It offers congratulations to Dr. Rastall and his helpers and looks with interest to the opening of this season's campaign.

LOOKING TO FRANCE.

Europe is waiting the move from France.

The German Government which has announced its intention to abandon a policy of refusing to work in the occupied territory and a desire to arrange terms for the settlement of reparations is being sorely tried in the effort to maintain that position. Delay right now will be dangerous. So long as the end of troubled times and the perplexing debt question is not in sight Chancellor Stresemann will have his difficulties in impressing the German workmen with the advisability of returning to their labors.

If France seizes upon the moment as the psychological one, steps in now with her terms, the bargain may be signed and sealed in short order and the settlement might even quiet disordered Germany, re-establish the morale and at last open the way to reconstruction.

The French position, according to the statements of Poincare and other leaders, has been that the country had two legitimate objects in view: the payment of reparations designated in the post-war treaties, and the safeguarding of France from future aggression on Germany's part. Repeatedly there have been official denials of any territorial ambitions in the Rhine Basin.

So it would seem to be up to France to make a move to prove that her purposes are legitimate and that there is no disposition or intention to march in on a crumbled Germany. There is a government in Germany today which may act with France toward a settlement and save itself by the action. There is no telling how long that government will live and what the effects will be upon France and all of Europe if it falls.

NEW OBSERVATORY HEAD.

Oakland is fortunate in the selection of Earle Garfield Linsley to succeed the late Charles Burckhalter as director of Chabot Observatory, and it is fortunate to possess within its limits an institution like Mills College from which may come the trained man for such a position.

Professor Linsley moves into Chabot Observatory with every qualification for the place. He has worked with Professor Burckhalter and is thus thoroughly familiar with his new duties. As a scientist, a fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of London, member of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, California Academy of Sciences, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Meteorlogical Society he holds a high position.

Professor Linsley is a graduate of the University of California and has been a professor at Mills College. He is an Oakland man whose scientific work has been done here and one who can take over the duties at Chabot Observatory knowing exactly what they are and what is meant by the local application of his knowledge and efforts.

Next week the Observatory will be open once more with a man in charge who will fit naturally into the place and who is qualified to uphold the tradition of service and courtesy established by his predecessor.

Close after they were called upon to give all they could spare to the Japanese relief fund, Japanese citizens of Berkeley have contributed more than $800 to the aid of those who lost property in the fire in that city. The money came without solicitation and indicates eloquently an appreciation of what Berkeley and the Eastbay cities did to answer the call which came from across the Pacific.

Another bit of recreation for the Prince of Wales would be to play a little game of solitaire with Baron Renfrew.

HARVESTING OF RICE.

The rice harvest in the Sacramento valley is under way. The crop is a average one, the price to be expected is of an average with recent years. The boom days in rice culture are over. It has settled into a form of grain farming, with the larger rewards to the best and most careful farmers. Some criticism has been expressed in various quarters during the past several years, which leads the Colusa un to remark that probably most of the criticism comes from those who in the boom days extended too lavish credit and suffered when the crash came. Continuing, that paper declares that rice growing is just as staple as growing prunes or any other crop. The element of speculation has been eliminated and in future rice growers who own their own land or are in position to lease acreage at a reasonable price, can make just as good a profit off rice as they can off any other grain.

In addition, there are thousands of acres of land in the valley which can be used for no other purpose. By rotating crops and planting early maturing varieties as soon as possible in the season rice growing will always be a staple in this valley.

Rice growing also prolongs the harvesting season and owners of threshing outfits are able to get in several months additional of profitable work before the fall rains close harvesting operations for the year. It also provides work for thousands of laborers for two or three months who otherwise would be idle or forced to seek jobs elsewhere. And business is always good in the rice towns while the harvest is on. The rice industry should be fostered on all sides, instead of anathematized.—Marysville Appeal.

The LANTERN

FRENCH WITHOUT A STRUGGLE.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—My French, I am glad to report, is coming along rapidly. Day before yesterday I went alone to a cafe, a few blocks from my hotel, where they have become used to seeing my wife and me together, and the proprietor politely hoped that Madame was not ill.

She wasn't, but because I had picked up a few words from a phrase book that day, and was eager to try them out, I said:

"Madame, a mal de tete."

The proprietor and the waiter who usually waits on us were both very solicitous, I managed to gather from their motions more than from their speech, and they gave me a rose to take home to Madame.

I was a little shaky about the mal de tete line of stuff, and I looked it up again in the little book, and ran onto a lot of other diseases, and read them over aloud, trying to approximate the pronunciation.

That evening I took dinner without Madam , and the proprietor contrived to make me understand that he was more than ever anxious about Madame.

"Madame," I said, grasping at the opportunity to try a few more words, "suffers from a fall—Madame souffre d'une chute."

That was terrible. Had she, perhaps, fallen from a carriage?—or so I construed the question, for the word "voiture" figured in it, and I have learned "voiture." I am, you might say, sound and well grounded in the word "voiture."

A fall from a carriage, however, was sure to lead to conversational depths in which I could not swim. So I said:

"Non. Madame suffre d'une attaque d'apoplexie."

It produced so much sympathy and lively interest that I began to feel as if Madame were, indeed, really very ill, and, encouraged by the sympathy, I sadly gave her l'epilepsie, une courbature, une equinancie, le frisson and as many more from the list as I could remember.

"But," said the cashier, who is, I think, the proprietor's wife, and who speaks English, "the lady is very ill indeed!"

"Yes," I said, "it is terrible. I am afraid of what may happen tonight. I am afraid it will develop into le cauchemar."

"But that would not be so serious," she said, looking at me strangely. And, indeed, I had forgotten what "le cauchemar" means, but it sounds interesting.

The strange result of the participation of the proprietor's wife in the conversation was this: As long as I was telling over in my makeshift French the list of Madame's diseases I did not feel that I was lying. But as soon as some one began to make me talk about them in English I felt that I had been lying, and lying in a quite silly and unnecessary way. I began to feel sneaking as a wet dog, in fact, and I carried back to the hotel with me three roses and a thousand expressions of sympathy and mixed with the sympathy there was a certain astonishment — Madame had looked so well, so very well, indeed, only the night before!

It did not tell my wife anything about it, but the next evening when we went to dinner I diplomatically steered her to another restaurant. Today, and again alone, I passed the place, and the proprietor was standing in the door; he drew me in and he and his wife made further inquiries.

"Helas!" I said, and broke from them sobbing.

But such tender interest as theirs is not to go unrewarded. With the assistance of the phrase book, which contains a guide for letter writers, I have just composed the following, which I shall mail to the proprietor of the place this evening:

Helas, mon cher ami, je ne m'atendais pas a pleurer autre chose que mes infirmites. Quel sujet de larmes at quelle perte viens-je de faire, bon Dieu! En verite, Monsieur, la nature ne peut seule resister a de pareilles epreuves, et l'on a grand besoin de secours pour soutenir la pesanteur d'un semblable coup. Adieu! je crains deffacer ce que je vous ecris, par les larmes qui s'echappent de mes yeux. Je vous embrasse, mon cher ami, et je slaue toute votre amiable famille.

Now, if we ever go to that place again, I suppose I shall have to introduce my wife as her twin sister.

DON MARQUIS.

Elephant and Donkey

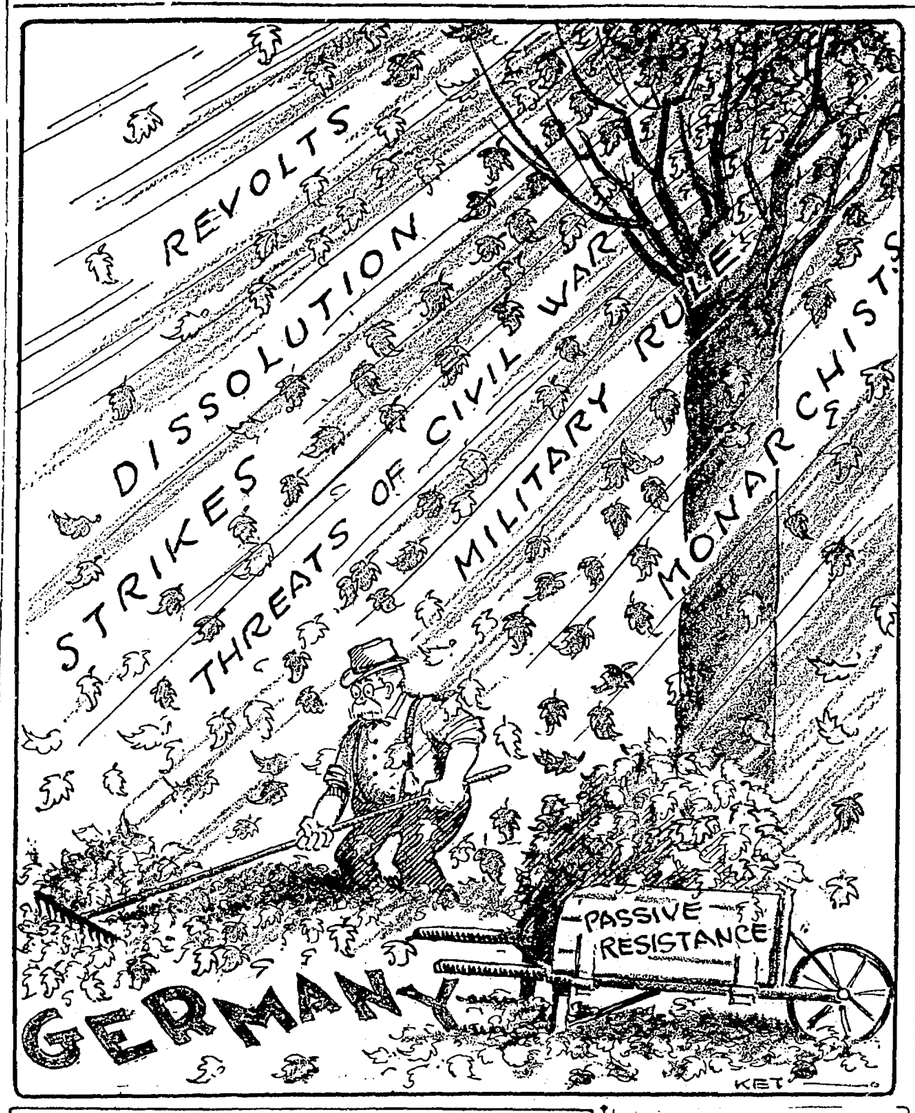

To settle the oft-repeated query as to where the elephant and the donkey originated as symbols of the Republican and Democratic parties, Harper & Brothers, publishers of Harper's Magazine, announce that they first appeared in their publication November, 1874.

Thomas Nast, famous illustrator and cartoonist, was at that time one of the staff of artists employed by Harpers. He got his idea from an article appearing in a New York newspaper which described the escape of some animals from a city zoo. The two political parties were then, as usual, on the warpath, so he pictured them in a cartoon as frenzied animals escaped from confinement.

Nast's personal political persuasion was shown in his depicting the Republican party as an animal of great strength and burden-bearing capacity, and the Democratic party as a donkey. The Democrats, however, all unabashed, adopted the donkey as their mascot, as it is the standard beast of burden in the Southern states, where most of the Democratic strength reposes.

THE MELONCHOLY DAYS ARE THERE

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Kansas City Times: "Ex-President Wilson, solicited for an expression of opinion regarding the candidacy of Senator Shields of Tennessee for re-election replied: 'I do not feel at liberty to say more than this: That I regard Mr. Shields, in my administration, as one of the least trustworthy of my professed supporters.' Aside from that noncommittal utterance, the former president declined to say anything for or against the senator's candidacy."

Portland Oregonian: "The habits of the farm persist. So we have President Coolidge spending an early morning hour strolling about the streets of the capital. A press photographer proved it by snapping such a picture at 6:45 o'clock. The president was afoot long before the milkmen had finished their deliveries or the tide of the city's activities had even begun to flow. A fine and beneficial habit is the morning walk, which has fallen somewhat into disuse in this country."

Philadelphia Ledger: "Dr. Nansen, of Norway, has made an appeal to the assembly of the League of Nations for the small states of Europe, who are the 'innocent bystanders' in the riot of big interests which is keeping the Old World in turmoil. These smaller states are in part the progeny of the treaty of Versailles. Their woes are not smaller, though less vocal, than the troubles of France, England, Italy and Germany."

Chicago News: "President Coolidge now finds himself in a predicament where the public expects him to say something worth while every time he speaks. Perhaps he will."

Detroit Free Press: "They used to call President Coolidge 'Silent Cal.' If he handles all his problems as he has handled the request of the farm bloc members for a special session of congress, he will earn the more alliterative appellation, Canny Cal. The president faced with a demand, turned a typical 'Yankee trick.' He came back with a counter demand. In effect he said, 'You want an extra session of congress so that relief legislation for the farmers may be passed. All right, bring me a practical concrete plan for the relief of the farmers and I will call the session. But until we have a plan, why bother with congress?'"

Seattle Times: "An oft-repeated phrase is, 'small town stuff.' You hear it in the streets, in the trolley cars, in the stores, and everywhere you go. 'Small town stuff' has become a by-word that greets you on all sides at all hours of the day. But the man or woman in the small town who is making both ends meet, and is laying by a dollar for either a drought or a rainy day, can afford to smile audibly at some of the big town stuff that is being staged in the large cities of the country these strenuous days."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Washington dispatches announce the probable disappearance of the $2 bill from the national currency because of its widespread unpopularity.' The phrase indicates a curious state of a part of the public mind. For a long time a bill of the denomination indicated has been regarded by many people as a hoodoo, but we doubt if anybody can give a good reason for this fact."

Portland Oregonian: "How many destroyers have we left, anyhow? The battleship Arkansas has just finished ramming one off the Atlantic coast. If this sort of thing keeps up, America's share in the disarmament programme will be automatically attended to."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

In a double sense the forests of California have been opened by the blazed trail. Forest fires are no new thing in the state. Records of them are marked on our ancient trees and but for the resistant power of the sequoia gigantea to fire we should not have had any of these survivors of prehistoric times left.—Fresno Herald.

Fire broke out last Sunday night about three o'clock in one of the pilot houses of the Martinez-Benicia Ferryboat City of Martinez, which for a time threatened to be serious. Fortunately many of the crew were sleeping on the boat and the pump was manned and seven streams of water were turned on the fire, putting it out.—Benicia Herald.

Down Melones way the people are getting hostile and are on the warpath for some firebug. There are altogether too many fires in that vicinity and the people are getting tired of turning out to fight a new one every little while. They have a big coil of rope all ready for some incendiary if they could catch him.—Calaveras Prospect.

We do not approve of Benedict Arnold, nor do we approve of Eugene Debs. The best way to treat such men is to let them alone when they have done their worst. It is better, however, to let them talk than to have them intrigue secretly. Once we know what they wish to do, we can guard against that. We believe that the patriotism and good citizenship of the American people are strong enough to withstand all their attacks, so long as they are open.—Calaveras Prospect.

The Johnson-Wood luncheon at Sacramento will be most interesting, if for no other reason than that those present may witness the manner in which the two recent adversaries digest hard words along with the soup and salad. Of course, it is no strange thing for the senator to do this, but Wood is more or less new at the game and may choke upon a word or two.—Los Angeles Times.

Taft high school girls favor simple school uniforms. There are probably many pretty girls there, for beauty stands out best with least adornment. The girls show good common sense in adopting a simple, inexpensive uniform. It gives them more leeway for doiling up out of school hours.—Bakersfield Californian.

The question might be raised whether any great moral gain is achieved when Sunday ball games are stopped, and the young fellows spend their time swapping curbstone stories and spitting in the gutter.—Watsonville Pajaronian.

The coming of the Yellow Cab to Chico is a straw that indicates the emergence of the town from the pinafores of girlhood to the long-skirted garments of young womanhood.—Chico Enterprise.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MONEY.

Money buys motor cars,
Laces and things,
Diamonds and rubies
For princes and kings;
Money buys raiment
And foodstuff and wine—
But money won't buy you
A character fine.

Money can dress you
And feed you and hire
Servants to bow to
Your slightest desire;
Flatterers and fawners
Will smile as you spend,
But money won't buy you
One genuine friend....

Money is nothing
But purchasing power;
It is good to possess
For the need of the hour,
But who would be welcomed
At every man's door,
Whatever his fortune,
Must have something more.

Money will take you
As far as it can,
But money has never
Yet fashioned a man;
Give all the world's money
To one who is base,
You will still see the leer
Of the brute on his face.

Toil for the money
And go for the goal,
But still keep a thought
For the good of your soul;
Be friendly, be kindly,
Be gentle, be true,
And make of yourself
What no money can do.

Ballad to E. 14th

She plunges deep, then mounts the crest,
And north and south and east and west
Her four wheels point as suits them best.
What are—the wild waves—saying?

Though we go down in the blackened deep,
Stay not to help, pause not to weep.
Climb out yourself, if it's not too steep.
What — are the — wild — waves saying?

Oh, bounding billows; oh, asphalt wave,
You're a test of courage. The man is brave
Who travels six blocks of the rippling pave.
What—are—the—wild—w-waves say-ing?

—CLEMENTINA MONTGOMERY.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.

The young editor had just founded a new magazine—one of those high-brow things with pale gray covers and uncut pages—and was eager for applause.

"What do you think of it?" he asked the celebrated literary critic to whom he took a copy for examination.

"Well," replied the other, wearily, but warily, "the stuff you rejected must certainly have been rotten." — American Legion Weekly.

STILL ANOTHER SENSE.

"Bill," said a sailor of whom the Western Christian Advocate knows, looking up from his writing to consult the superior knowledge of a friend, "do you spell 'sense' with a 'c' or an 's'?"

"That depends," replied his friend. "Do you refer to money or brains?"

"Aw, I don't mean either of them," was the reply. "I want to say I ain't seen him sense."—Youth's Companion.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

A BELCHING ROSE.

At the outset I must break my rule by admitting that theer is such a condition as gas in the stomach, but don't cheer, boys, for it is a perfectly normal condition, after all.

A little gas in the stomach is good for digestion. Too much of a good thing, however, is certainly annoying. But let us not be too severe on the starchy foods, even so. It isn't the starch that is to blame for the gas, but the way the victim shoots the starchy things down without wasting any time masticating them. The average quick lunch patron saves a good five minutes by waiving mastication, and devotes the five minutes to the famous curbstone sport of picking his teeth. I would earnestly commend to all who suffer with gas on the stomach a study of Horace Fletcher's books, particularly "The New Glutton or Epicure" and "The A. B. Z of Our Own Nutrition"—but don't take all Fletcher says too seriously.

The valuable lesson which Fletcher teaches, particularly for persons troubled with excessive gas and belching, from digestive and other disorders, is that one may derive greater energy from a smaller intake of nutriment if mastication is thoroughly done.

For many sufferers in this class the first essential is good dentistry. It is unreasonable, though still popular with some near invalids, to imagine that one can have good digestion with bad teeth or no teeth. If there is anything the matter with your teeth, or any teeth missing, make a date with your dentist.

Here is seems meet to mention that no man has ever died of acute or chronic indigestion. If a doctor absent mindedly ascribes a fatality to any such cause nowadays the authorities send a couple of detectives to ferret out the crime. So doctors just don't let patients die of indigestion any more.

One good plan for the sufferer from excessive gas is a very small dry diet—no liquids, except in the least possible quantity between meals, and six meals a day instead of two or three. The less food at each meal the better, and the more time spent in masticating that food the better.

Another plan which proves very helpful in many instances when the trouble is associated with overweight and perhaps excessive blood pressure, is the now somewhat notorious Karell regimen on two or three days each week, but not consecutive days. Say six ounces (small glassful) of skimmed milk (or if the cows give no skimmed milk in your city, then the bottom milk after the cream has been removed) every three hours, sipped slowly, and no other food or drink on that day.

OUR BUYING POWER.

The ice man collects a million dollars a day from the American people. And about the same amount is spent for furs. We also spend a million dollars a week for gum. These figures are revealed by recent analysis of sums collected for taxes.

But the figures are amazingly small, rather than startlingly large, when you consider that they represent the buying of at least 106,000,000 Americans. None of us fully realize the enormous buying power of the American people. It's so big it's a wonder we ever have hard times.—Chico Enterprise.

PERGOLA INN BANDITS GET LIFE TERMS

Notice of Appeal Filed by Attorney for Convicted Trio; Perjury Trials Set for Sister of One Bandit

Jeff Galbraith, Rex Robinson and Al Stoerkel today were sentenced to San Quentin for an indeterminate period of from one year to life for the robbery of the Pergola Inn on the evening of January 13, when about 200 guests of the cafe were robbed of about $50,000. Sentence was pronounced by Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church.

Stoerkel until today was known as Al Moore. Answering to the commitment questions of Judge Church, the convicted bandit said his true name was Albert F. Stoerkel. He gave his age as 33, and his occupation as a concrete mixer and prizefighter.

Galbraith and Robinson said they were 23 years old and that they were farmers. Robinson said he had served with the Canadian army during the war. Neither Galbraith nor Stoerkel had been in the army.

Their attorney, Leon Sullivan, served notice of appeal to the district court but did not ask a stay of sentence pending theappeal.

Dates for the trials of Mrs. Jessie Garig and Mrs. Mary Sweeney, sisters of Galbraith, charged with perjury in an alleged attempt to establish an alibi for their brothers, were today set for October 31 and November 18, respectively. Judge Church today allowed a substitution of bonds for the $2,000 cash bail supplied by each of the women.

Big Fines, Jail Terms Check Speeders

INDIANOPOLIS, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Jail sentences, heavy fines and loss of their automobiles are proving effective in reducing the number of speeders in Indianapolis. The plan, introduced a short time ago by Judge Delbert O. Wilmeth, has resulted in a general let down in speeding throughout the city, according to police officers.

First offenders are fined a set amount for whatever speed they are convicted of having made, but do not have to pay if they relinquish their machines for a certain number of days. For example, a person convicted of driving 25 miles an hour is fined $5 and costs. On payment of the costs and turning in his license plates and driver's certificate, the fine is suspended. In five days the offender again may drive his car.

Alaska Reports New Mines Found

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Mining activities in the Portland Canal Region of British Columbia and southeastern Alaska have been greater during the past summer than ever before in the history of the district, according to advices from various sources reaching Seattle. A dispatch from Hyder, Alaska, center of the area, says new and important discoveries had been made during the season, more prospectors are in the field than ever before, and development work is being carried on extensively.

Especially important finds were made in the Texas Creek and Chikamen Valley sections, both in American territory, where silver-lead ore running more than $100 to the ton in silver content was said to have been uncovered.

Giant Meteor Is Blamed for Fire

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Forest rangers of the Choteau station, near here, are investigating the report that a giant meteor, which fell in Sun River canyon near Great Falls, on August 18, last, set fire to the timber on Pendagon mountain.

The meteor fell about 10 o'clock at night and was seen by many Great Falls citizens. It lighted up the surrounding country for about 20 minutes. The fire on Pendagon mountain was reported the next day.

Alien School Law Upheld in Hawaii

HONOLULU, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The constitutionality of the territorial legislative act of 1920 regulating alien language schools, which has been fought vigorously by the Japanese residents of Hawaii, has been upheld in a decision handed down by Judge Frank Andrade of the circuit court.

The act provides that teachers in the alien schools must undergo an examination as to their knowledge of American history, ideals and customs.

Napoleon Death Mask Is Discovered

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—A wax mask of Napoleon, made a few hours after the emperor's death by an English surgeon of the 20th Regiment of Infantry, has just been found hidden away in a house in a small French town.

Several years after Napoleon's death the mask was sent to England, where it was purchased by a Russian diplomat and presented by him to the Czar Alexander I. Later it was taken to Holland and Bavaria, but for the past 20 years it has been lost.

An eye lash can still be seen attached to the mould.

DEMAND MADE TO REVOKE ORDER FOR PROBATION

Demand was made today by Miss Alma Myers, assistant United States district attorney, that probation for Alexander R. Balm, former promoter and attorney, be revoked. Miss Myers appeared before Superior Judge L. S. Church, who granted Balm probation several months ago, and claimed that the terms upon which clemency was given Balm had no been fulfilled.

Balm came into public notice more than a year ago when he was executor of the estate of his mother, the late Mrs. Eliza Baum. Superior Judge E. C. Robinson jailed Balm on charges of contempt when he failed to file an accounting of his activities as executor. This was followed by the finding of a shortage of $60,000 in the estate's funds. Charge of embezzlement was placed against Balm and he entered a plea of guilty.

Balm was removed as executor and was ordered to file a final account of his stewardship so that the estate could be ad istered. Miss Myers today decla ed that no such report had been filed.

The case was continue two weeks with an admonition from the court that probation \ uld be revoked unless all requirements were met.

COMPANY IS BLAMED FOR FOREST FIRE

California Door Concern Held Responsible for Blaze That Destroyed Mining Town of El Dorado

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—(International News Service.)—State Forester M. B. Pratt announced here today that the board of forestry has filed an action against the California Door company of San Francisco and Oakland, charging that concern with responsibility for the fire which destroyed the mining town of El Dorado last week and burned over thousands of acres of surrounding country.

The company is charged on three counts as follows:

1.—Allowing a fire to escape from its property to adjoining land.

2.—Operating a donkey engine without proper fire guards and without taking proper precautions in clearing away inflammable material.

3.—Starting a fire without a permit from the state board of forestry.

The case will be prosecuted in the El Dorado county superior court by District Attorney A. Darlington, Pratt said.

Pratt declared that J. P. Yost, the forestry inspector in El Dorado county, has traced the disastrous fire which ravaged that section to a brush fire started by the company at its mill at Diamond Springs. This fire spread to adjoining timber land and then swept the town of El Dorado, Pratt said. The preliminary hearing the case will be held October 7.

LONG DISTANCE WALKER ARRIVES FOR LEGION MEET

Anthony R. Broom of Cincinnati, a former member of Co. C, 147th Infantry, who has walked from his home city to every American Legion convention since the legion was organized, has arrived in Oakland en route to San Francisco to attend the convention in that city next month after completing a hike from Cincinnati via New Orleans.

Broom holds three first medals, which he has won in walking contests held during various Legion conventions. In addition to his walking ability, he claims a certain amount of boxing proficiency. He left his home in August, 1922, walked to New Orleans for the convention, there and then turned his footsteps westward. He has entered boxing and walking matches along the way.

Theology Schools Short of Students

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—According to the London newspapers, there is a grave shortage of clergy in the Church of England. Official figures disclose that there are fewer than 13,000 incumbents this year, which is 8000 less than the number required to carry on the work of the church. The theological colleges, the newspapers say, are neatly empty.

"One of the causes of this shortage is the financial position of the professional classes from whose ranks the priesthood is usually recruited," says Canon Partridge, secretary of the Church of England.

Playful Cat Brings Death to Mistress

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—The pet cat of Mrs. Mary Brockner caused her death, according to a theory advanced by the police last night when the bodies of the woman and the cat, both asphyxiated, were found in the bathroom of the Brockner home. The police said the cat apparently had disconnected a piece of tubing that had been attached to a gas heater.

The tragedy was discovered by the dead woman's husband, A. E. Brockner, a traveling salesman, when he went home last night. He smelled gas and traced it to the bathroom, where his wife's body was found in the tub.

New State Tax On Gasoline to Begin Tomorrow

Motorists of California will begin tomorrow to pay the next state tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline.

This tax will be paid in the form of a two-cent rise in the price of gasoline at most of the service stations throughout the state. The tax thus collected will then be paid to the state by the companies.

Rumors that the independent companies, particularly those operating in Southern California, were planning to absorb the tax, paying it to the state without raising the price of gasoline, were current today but received no corroboration from the independent operators. The rumors were denied by some of the largest Southern California independents, such as the Ventura, Richfield and Gilmore companies.

Difference of opinion among gasoline companies as to the correct interpretation of the state law will result in some of them raising the price tomorrow, while others will not do so until Monday. The law reads that the tax shall be paid "from and after September 30." According to the interpretation of the Standard Oil and several other concerns, this means "on and after," and these companies will begin imposing the tax tomorrow. Other companies will wait until Monday before making the additional charge.

The gasoline companies intend to leave it to the state to solve the problem of granting rebates to farmers nd motorboat users for the gasoline they purchase after the tax is added. The purpose of the tax as it is understood, was as one form of automobile tax, and was not intended to apply to users of gasoline for other purposes.

PARLEY VISITORS TO VISIT PROJECT

ATLANTA, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—A study of the engineering aspects of the water power projects at Tallulah Falls, Ga., near this city, is expected to be made by visitors to the annual convention of the American Society for Municipal Improvements to be held here November 12 to 16. The falls, one of the state's beauty spots, was harnessed several years ago and now furnishes hydro-electric power for the industries of this section. The reading of papers, and general discussions of subjects relating to engineering, city zoning, transportation, sanitation and municipal improvements will take up most of the time of the meeting. The society has a membership of between 1500 and 2000, composed largely of engineers, contractors, city and county officials and supply men. It has never met twice in the same city, the purpose of the society, according to its officials, being to disseminate by personal contact, as well as by publication, information and experiences upon the best methods to be employed in the management of the municipal departments and construction of municipal works.

All of the officers of the organization, including W. W. Horner of St. Louis, president, are expected to be in attendance.

"The city of Oakland has every reason to be proud of the marvelous efficiency of its police department and its leadership."

STUDENT OF INDIAN IS VISITOR HERE

Helen Fitzgerald, Adopted Member of Blackfeet, in Oakland; Japanese Quake Cost All Author's Trunks

By FRANCIS MONTGOMERY.

A world pilgrimage which took her into Italy during the Fascisti uprising, among bandits in China, and into Japan at the time of earthquake is the experience of Helen Fitzgerald Sanders, writer and international lecturer now in Oakland.

Mrs. Sanders whose pen name is Helen Fitzgerald, admits she is a bit weary after her prolonged journey filled with exciting events, narrow escapes and many losses but being one of a tribe of American braves she has met events with traditional fortitude.

ADOPTED BY BLACKFEET.

An adopted member of the Blackfeet Indians, Helen Fitzgerald has lived among and studied the North American Indians for many years and close observations and experiences have resulted in her books "Trails Through Western Woods," "The White Quiver," "The Dream Maker" and "Little Mother America."

"Ten years ago I was taken into the Blackfeet tribe," said the author when interviewed. "The land of the Blackfeet now ajoins Glacier National Park in Montana. A girl friend whose parents were a noted army officer and his beautiful Indian wife, first interested me in the Indians many years ago. We spent a summer with them. I was so happy there that I have lived among them every summer since then until two years ago when I started on a world pilgrimage and lecture tour. Chief Emetaquin received me into the Blackfeet tribe and gave me the name of Muchanica which means "The Victory." The Indian has a spiritual side and that part of his nature has interested me most."

ENGLISH CURIOUS.

During her two years of foreign travel Helen Fitzgerald remained nine months in England, Scotland and Wales. The English speaking people of the old world, according to the author, are extremely curious concerning the American Indian.

"In my tribal costume which I always wear when living among the Indians I do not look unlike them. In England people spoke of the resemblance and by the way they repeatedly make the statement there that America is developing a new type and that the new type of American, in facial features resembles the early American Indian."

TO LECTURE HERE.

"I arrived in Japan some weeks before the earthquake disaster. For some reason I was uneasy about remaining there and was anxious to get to California. The uneasiness grew until I felt I must leave immediately. I tried to secure passage on a boat leaving for San Francisco but the list was filled. When the next boat sailed I got there just a few minutes too late again. I had turned my trunks over to the American Express and I did not even wait for them. I sailed on the next boat without my luggage and we were at sea when a wireless apprised us of the terrible earthquake. It was a voyage of gloom and I cannot forget how I had been literally rushed out of Japan. I lost all my trunks and clothing, including valuable costumes, some of which had been given me by Indian friends."

Helen Fitzgerald Sanders with her little daughter Daphne is the guest of Mrs. George Owens at 3917 Greenwood avenue and while in Oakland will lecture on the North American Indians.

RECKLESSNESS ON STREET PUNISHED

John Lane, an engineer, was fined $100 today by Police Judge Hennessey after he was found guilty of a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested last Saturday by Traffic Officer George Dooling after a chase of thirteen blocks. At Tenth and Clay streets he collided with another machine. The officer told him to wait for him. Lane continued on his way. Dooling stopped a passing machine and chased the defendant. He overtook Lane at Seventh and Filbert streets.

Carl E. Firburg and Cyral Taves both pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving before Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell. The case was continued until next Saturday for trial. They were arrested after they had collided with an automobile which was driven by Mrs. Wilbur T. Timm, the wife of a policeman in the Oakland police depyartment. Firburg resides at 2176 Forty-eighth avenue and Taves lives at 2260 Forty-seventh avenue. Mrs. Timm's home is 2459 Sixtieth avenue.

Carl F. Bierman, 9324 Scott street, entered a plea of not guilty to a similar charge. The date of the trial was set for October 15.

RAID NETS BAD FRUIT AND MASH

Police Squad Seizes Alleged Brandy and Canned Stuff That Explodes When Opened; Four Arrested

Four men were arrested and 10,000 gallons of mash and several thousand gallons of condemned canned fruits were seized in a raid by the morals squad last night upon an alleged bootlegging establishment located in a tall tankhouse at 1515 Forty-fourth avenue.

Manuel and Louis Silva were released today on bail of $1500 each on a charge of manufacture and possession of liquors. Frank and Dave Brierly were released on bail of $1000 each on a charge of manufacture of liquors.

The men appeared before Police Judge Hennessey this morning and their case was continued until Monday to plead.

Sergeant E. W. Brock, head of the raiding squad, described the seized liquor as "jackass brandy," manufactured from condemned canned fruits. When Policeman W. S. Garrett broke into a case of the canned fruits with an ax, the cans exploded and ruined the officer's clothes. In all 10,000 cans of the condemned preserves were found on the premises, according to Brock.

A still was found in a water tank at the top of the water tower upon the 20-acre farm owned by the Silvas. About 300 feet from the tankhouse were two vats, each of 10,000 gallons capacity. One of these was filled with a mash which had been prepared from the fruits, according to the report of the officers. The mash was carried to the still through a lead pipeline. Two pumps used for this purpose were found adjoining the still. A gas jet was under the still within the water tank.

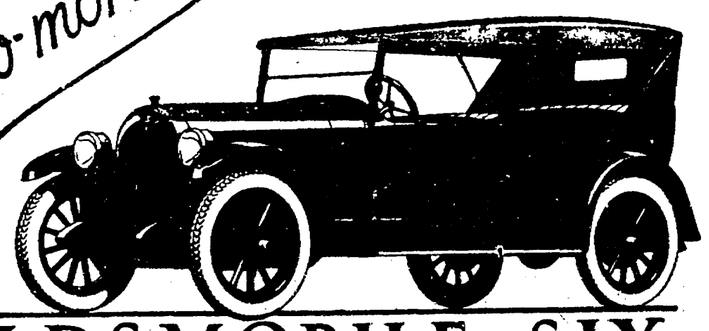

Lockhart Killer Must Answer Crime

CHICO, Sept. 29.—Robert Jackson, self confessed slayer of Theodore Lockhart in Nord on the night of August 20, was held to answer before the superior court of Butte county on a charge of manslaughter following the hearing in the court of Justice of the Peace J. L. Barnes. Bail was fixed at $10,000 and Jackson yesterday afternoon was taken to Oroville and remanded to the custody of Sheriff R. N. Anderson.

The hearing was a disappointment to the numbers of persons who crowded the court room in the municipal building in the expectation of hearing the tale unfolded of Lockhart's attentions to Mrs. Capitola Sollars, her repulsion of those attentions, and the story of Jackson's efforts to keep Lockhart away from the Sollars ranch at Nord because Lockhart knew too much about Jackson's intimate life with the Sollars family.

The preliminary hearing was waived by Jackson's attorney, Allison Ware, and the defendant was bound over to the superior court to face a manslaughter charge brought by District Attorney Rothe.

Oakland Observes Laugh Week; "Ruggles of Red Gap" Is Here

ERNEST TORRENCE as Cousin Egbert and LILLIAN LEIGHTON as Ma Pettingill, in "RUGGLES OF RED GAP," which opens at the American Theatre today.

Wonderful Cast Seen in Screen Version of Harry Leon Wilson's Novel

When Harry Leon Wilson conceived the idea of depositing in Paris a typical western cattle baron who could use a six shooter and profanity with equal facility and then transferred a London butler to the environment of a western cow town, he developed a novel which the world has acclaimed one of the most humorous in recent fiction.

These events occur in the celebrated "Ruggles of Red Gap," and now the novel, which has been read by millions, has been transplanted to the screen. The picture opens at the American Theater today.

The picture version of "Ruggles of Red Gap" is assured a place in moving picture history as one of the most wholesome and finest vehicles ever assembled. Ernest Torrence as the great-hearted diamond in the rough, Cousin Egbert, gives a performance on a par with his work in "The Covered Wagon." Edward Horton, fast rising as one of the screen's best known comedians, is an ideal Ruggles. Lois Wilson, Louise Dresser, Charles Ogle and other favorites contribute to the virile action.

"Ruggles of Red Gap" is the latest masterpiece to be conceived by James Cruze and capacity audiences are expected at each performance during its engagement at the American Theater.—Advertisement.

STRATEGY EXPERT MAY EXONERATE DESTROYER CHIEF

Says Division Commander Could Not Avoid Fatal Wreck at Honda.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Tales of heroism rubbed elbows with navigational data and expert testimony on naval tactics at today's session of the court of inquiry investigating the wreck of seven destroyers off Honda, September 8.

When court adjourned until Monday all but two of the 17 commanders and lieutenant commanders involved as defendants in the destroyer inquiry had told their stories of the catastrophe. These two were Lieutenant-Commander Richard H. Booth, captain of the U. S. S. Chauncey, which was wrecked; and Commander William P. Gaddis, commanding officer of the U. S. S. Somers, which was damaged but succeeded in backing safely off the rocks.

EXPERT PUT ON STAND.

Commander William S. Pye, chief of one of the three divisions of Destroyer Squadron 11 on the night of the wreck who is recognized as an authority on strategy and naval policy and author of several text books used at the War College in Washington, was asked:

"As a recognized authority on naval tactics and doctrine, and on the basis of information obtained as a participant in this disaster, will you say that the commander of the division just ahead of yours could have done any more than he did to avoid the wreck?"

"He could not," replied the witness.

There was no liquor on board any ship of the eleventh squadron that night, he said, nor had he "ever seen any aboard any American ship of war" since a prohibitive order issued by the secretary of the navy in 1914.

Lieutenant Commander Walter D. Seed, captain of the U. S. S. Fuller, said he had "several comparatively green steersmen aboard" and was particularly watchful that night, but observed nothing that led him to believe the squadron was off its course.

Much of his testimony concerned the hours of heroic effort involved in getting the men ashore after the crash; the difficulty of carrying lines from ship to ship and from ship to rock; the tumultuous surf which made life rafts practically useless and the coolness and bravery of his men who clung to the deck of the Fuller all night singing.

Bridge Terminal Is Valued at $125,000

MARTINEZ, Sept. 29. — Colonel J. E. Hoar of San Francisco, consulting engineer and appraiser and formerly associated with Colonel Goethals, values seven-tenths of an acre at Valona, sought by the Rodeo-Vallejo Ferry company as a terminal for its Carquinez Straits bridge, at $125,000.

Colonel Hoar, witness for the Crockett Land & Cattle company, placed his valuation on the property in testifying before a jury in Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado's court. Desirability of the land for a bridge terminal and the use it is to be put to actuated him in his valuation, Colonel Hoar declared. The only other appraiser for the defense to testify was Hall Wells of San Francisco, who fixed a valuation of $150,000 on the property.

On completion of yesterday afternoon's session Judge Alvarado ordered a continuance of trial until Tuesday. It is expected that O. H. Klatt, secretary of the ferry company, will be called Tuesday as a defense witness.

BASE SITE GIFT MAY LAPSE IF ACTION DELAYED

Speaker Tells League of Women Voters Why Congress Should Be Prompt.

Unless Congress acts at the coming session in regard to acceptance of the Alameda Naval Base, the United States Government probably will find that the gift has lapsed, and if it should desire the property in the future will be obliged to resort to condemnation proceedings or lose land worth millions of dollars, Joseph R. Knowland told members of Oakland League of Women Voters, meeting in Ebell clubhouse, yesterday. With the support of the San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego Chambers of Commerce, local leaders in the project will go to Washington in support of a comprehensive plan for coast defense in the best interests of the navy, according to the speaker.

"If the government cares to take over the Alameda site it will be all right," Knowland said. "The development of the Eastbay cities or of Alameda is not dependent upon whether the base is established there or not. The land can well be turned over to industries. However, as a business proposition, having the unanimous approval of three commissions, two secretaries of the navy, two presidents of the United States and a Congressional committee, after careful survey and study, it would seem wise to accept the gift of the site."

The Alameda naval base site was sought by the navy and not discovered by land promoters, the speaper said. While the communities about the bay will reflex benefit from the establishment of the base at this point, he called attention to the fact that the only land adjoining the site belonged to the University of California. The city of Alameda owns the land which is offered and leases to the Southern Pacific company. A part of the site is in San Francisco boundaries.

"We take the position that we on this side of the bay have been asked by the Navy Department for a location here," Knowland commented.

"Advocating a naval base does not mean that we are belligerent or favor war," the speaker said. "Whether war comes or not, we admit that a navy must be maintained, for protection of our citizens in foreign lands and to stand ready in times of disaster. Look at Europe today with its unsettled conditions. We do not know at what moment we may become involved.

"Our entrance into the Five Power pact did not eliminate our navy. Our navy will be larger and maintained with more ships than before the World War under the pact which we entered. So long as we have a navy we must have navy yards. On the Pacific there are but two. If the base is established in Alameda, and Mare Island maintained, still, in my opinion, this coast will not have sufficient facilities to offer the fleet on the Pacific. It is difficult in Washington to get people of the Middle West—many of whom have never seen a ship—to appreciate the problems on the coats.

"After the armistice all eyes were focused on the Pacific because experts knew it was here that the problems of the future would be met. That was why the navy department decided that in place of a divided fleet, it was necessary to center in these waters, and the President designated the Pacific the headquarters for the great American fleet. We must mave here adequate facilities for carrying out the naval program."

Registration and naturalization laws of California were reviewed in a talk by James Holland, representing the County Clerk's office.

Mrs. Carl Williams was chairman of program.

CURTAIN CALLS
By Wood Soanes

JUST what publicity is worth is now being measured by the showmen in New York.

The pressman's strike which tied up all of the New York newspapers on the eve of a series of important theatrical openings left the managers high and dry in the matter of critical comment.

According to the summing up of the situation by Variety the theatrical organ the absence of critical opinion was immediately reflected in the sale of tickets.

"The agencies particularly noted the weakness of the demand for the new attractions" the journal sets forth," and the opinion in ticket circles was that the absence of publicity was distinctly harmful.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

James Neill is at the Grand Opera House in "A Gentleman of France" with Edythe Chapman as leading woman.

"Indecision among theater patronage cropped up. Ticket brokers themselves made inquiry in an effort to discern the probable merit of the new shows. The value of the dailies may be given a real test before the strike is settled."

The three important openings on the night following the strike were Henry Miller and an all-star cast in "The Changelings"; "The Lullaby" and the San Carlo Grand Opera company.

Later in the week the New Yorkers received their views via the Philadelphia papers who printed the comment of the Broadway critics.

Changelings Not Changed For New York Showing

Judging from this comment Lee Wilson Dodd did not change "The Changelings" after the premier at the Columbia theater this summer. The complaint of the Western reviewers was that it was "talky" to a point of distress and while much of the language was smart and all of the acting excellent there seemed to be practically no excuse for wasting so much talent on such a paucity of material.

This same complaint is voiced in the Eastern journals with Heywood Broun in the New York World (via Philadelphia) accusing Dodd of lack of plausibility in his exposition and a too great desire to have his characters engage in useless conversation. He says in part:

"We don't happen to believe that even after watching the play."

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

In announcing the plans for the Greek Theater Players for the season the exuberant press agent gave credit for the western premier of "To the Ladies" to the amateur organization. Edward Everett Horton played it at the Fulton and it seems to us that it was also played in San Francisco last season.

The season, however, looks very promising including as it does George Bernard Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion"; Owen Davis' "The Detour"; Walter Hackett's "Captain Applejack" which George Friend will play; "Chains" a serious play; and "Hobson's Choice."

This latter is likely to give some trouble. Will Lloyd had great success in it out here but then Lloyd was a Britisher and was quite familiar with the Lancashire dialect in which the piece is written.

Louis R. Lurie, Jack Brehany and Will McStay were visitors yesterday. They are chock full of plans for the new Lurie theater (until yesterday the Pantages) which plans will soon be reduced to the printed page unless the amiable, stout and garrulous Colonel McStay breaks his type-writing arms.

• • •

R. H. D. the erudite musical editor bemoans the fact that wee Willie McStay could not have arrived in Oakland in time to enter the better baby show at Idora inasmuch as there was no particular age limit and Bill is rapidly getting as bald as any two-year-old.

If that is true what about George Friend who admits that he is getting a little thin from a hirsute point of view.

Lloyd Hamilton has returned home after subbing for Al Jolson in the Griffith picture "Be Yourself."

A new sort of medicine show is in the offing. Mary Garden proposes to "peddle blue pills for stout people" when she retires from the concert stage.

Now one hears that the Selwyns are to star Mrs. Leslie Carter.

"Our Betters" in which Stuart Sage is playing in London does not look like a hit, the British reviewers report.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"The Seven Dwarfs" a pantomime is to be presented at the Grand Opera House following "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"Before expressing an opinion as to whether an author has done well or ill, it is helpful to know what he was trying to do. That is our chief difficulty in reviewing "The Changelings." Mr. Dodd has printed a motto on the program as a clew but unfortunately it is in French, which we do not understand.

"We believe it means that the more evidence of change one sees the more surely do things remain the same. Or something like that. From this and from certain incidents in the play we might draw the conclusion that Mr. Dodd wants to say that opinions do not make a liberal or fine words a free spirit.

Auto Salesman Asks Mercy From Court

MARTINEZ, Sept. 29. — O. K. Neilsen, Antioch automobile salesman, who surrendered at the sheriff's office this week after being sought since July 12, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery today before Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado and made application for probation. His plea was referred to Probation Officer Boyer for a report on October 12. Neilsen was charged with forgery by G. Newlove, who alleged he advanced him $900 when Neilsen exhibited alleged forged contracts for sale of automobiles. When Neilsen surrendered Newlove deposited $1000 bail for his release.

THIRD MYSTERY BLAST IN TOLEDO INJURES WOMAN

Mother-in-Law of Dentist Is Hurt by Bomb on Roof Of Apartment.

TOLEDO, Sept. 29.—The third of a series of mysterious explosions in five days, thought to have been caused by the discharging of a bomb, occurred at the Charles Apartments, in Franklin avenue, last night.

The bomb was discharged on the roof of the apartment, a three-story brick structure, over the apartment occupied by J. A. Reckert, mechanical dentist.

Mrs. Charles Olson, mother-in-law of Reckert, was badly burned about the head and neck, and is suffering from shock, according to physicians.

Detectives at once made an investigation, it being their opinion that a hand-grenade had been thrown on the roof, causing the explosion. A large hole was blown in the roof and pieces of wood showed that the missile had been filled with buckshot, say police.

Other mysterious explosions recently were:

September 24, hole torn in the roof of the home of Paul Baird.

September 25, home of H. W. Hollinger, partly wrecked.

Mountain View Dist. Will Buy Fire Truck

MARTINEZ, Sept. 29.—Purchase of a small fire truck, a second chemical and additional hose to insure proper fire protection in the Mountain View district was decided upon last night at a meeting of the Mountain View Improvement Association at which fifty families were represented.

Recent destruction of a home in the tract by a fire stressed the need of better fire protection and last night's meeting brought forth a unanimous decision to purchase additional equipment.

Cooperation is to be asked by the district of the Martinez board of school trustees in providing motor transportation for 125 students residing in the district to the Martinez grammar school.

Old L. A. Offenders Assured Hot Reward

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—Quick, certain and drastic punishment for hardened and desperate criminals, trial within 30 days of arrest for all accused of felonies, probation to be the exception and not the rule, and no continuance of trials except when absolutely necessary, were promised after a meeting of the judges of the criminal departments of the Los Angeles Superior Court today.

'Other Women' Made Cause for Divorce

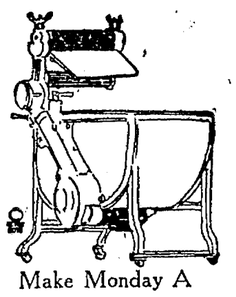

MARTINEZ, Sept. 29.—Charging that in the last six months her husband has associated with other women and that he told her he no longer loved her, Mrs. Gladys Neff of Richmond today filed suit for divorce against Thurston Neff. Mrs. Neff asks an award of $50 monthly. There are no children. The couple married in 1917 and separated on August 1 last. Pierce and Carlson are attorneys for the plaintiff.

MANY ATTEND RECEPTION.

VALLEJO, Sept. 29.—A number of women and children attended the reception held at the First Baptist church at Carolina and Sonoma streets on Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. L. P. Russell, wife of Reverend Russell, pastor of the church, had charge of the affair.

JOHNSON OPPOSES WORLD COURT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California stopped here yesterday on his up-state trip conferring with friends and advisors and speaking last night at a gathering of about 200 Republicans at a cafe.

The Senator, for the most part, confined his talk to the subject of the proposed entrance to the world court of the United States, and, as in other speeches, deprecated such a move.

"Europeans do not want our advice," the senator declared. "They're happy living their lives as they see fit. We might pass resolutions until eternity, but it would make no difference to the people abroad. They would like to have our money and our man power, but I don't propose they shall have either. We may send them advice by cable."

The world court, he said, is only a part of the league of nations and can act only mhen nations affected rule that it can act.

"You cannot stop a prize fight by arguing with one of the fighters," the senator stated. "When we enter the court we enter into racial differences abroad. Let us keep out of the mess. Don't tie America so she cannot keep her own course, free, unfettered and unimpaired."

Senator Johnson will speak at Long Beach this afternoon.

Golfer Shot by Trio At Rifle Practice

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—James L. Loveland, 1600 California street, was shot in the back of the head while playing golf on a private course near South San Francisco by one of three young men who were engaged in rifle practice in the vicinity yesterday afternoon. Loveland is in a serious condition at the San Francisco hospital.

Loveland told the police he had noticed the three men shooting at a target, but paid little attention to them. When the bullet struck him and he fell, the three jumped into an automobile and sped away, he told the police. While believing the shooting was accidental, Loveland has asked the police to make an investigation of the case.

Daylight Saving Ends On Sunday

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—More than 350 cities and towns in New York and several Eastern states that on April 29 set their clocks forward one hour to save daylight during the summer, will return to standard time at 2 a. m. tomorrow.

New York and New Jersey were the principal states in the Eastern time zone in which, under local ordinances, the daylight saving scheme was put into effect. The action affected all large cities and commuting vicinities.

Massachusetts has a daylight saving statute, while about 50 cities in other New England states observed the change in the clock either by local ordinance or common consent.

New York Pressmen Agree On Settlement

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—With New York's eleven-day strike of newspaper pressmen ended, the strikers are expected to return to their jobs Monday. The decision to discontinue the strike was reached at a meeting last night of the local union, whose charter had been revoked by the International Union. The strikers accepted the agreement concerning wages and working condtions made last Friday by members of the New York Publishers' Association and officials of the International Union.

RHEUMATIC PARALYTIC FOR YEARS NOW A WELL WOMAN

MRS. G. STAAFF

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 23, 1923.

For years I suffered so from Rheumatic Paralysis that I was unable to leave my bed. My hands and face were swollen and I had agonizing pains all over. My bladder and kidneys were in a terrible condition and I had pleurisy pain.

I had been treated by numerous medical men and had stayed in a hospital for manymonth s, but my condition was not at all improved. A friend having urged me to try the FONG WAN HERBS, my husband asked their herbalist to call on me. We bought and cooked some of the herbs at home, and my bladder and kidneys were relieverd almost immediately.

I took the herbs for about four months, and words cannot express my gratitude for my complete recovery. I am also happy to say that although I have taken no herbs at all during the past six months, I still remain well.

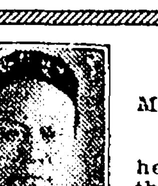

I gladly give my photo and this testimonial to the FONG WAN HERB CO. I know FONG WAN to be a straightforward business man who makes no vain boasts. I also know that he has relieved terrible cases of suffering. I have recommended numbers of persons to buy his herbs, and they have all been satisfied.

I live right here in the heart of Oakland. Anyone who really wishes to take the FONG WAN HERBS and would like to know more about how wonderfully the herbs have helped me, can obtain my address at hte FONG WAN OFFICE. MRS. G. STAAFF.

FONG WAN HERB CO.

Want Ad Classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s"; "Board" is No. 26, and always follows "Housekeeping Rooms (24)." Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

Their Majesties the King and Queen of Obapesla, and Some of Those Who Took Part in Their Coronation

At the upper right is MRS. HERMINIA PERALTA DARGIE, who was crowned queen last night by the Dons of Peralta. Upper left are OLIVER KEHRLEIN, bishop; JOSEPH J. ROSBOROUGH, cardinal, and FRANK ROLLER, cavalier. Cardinal Rosborough, assisted by the bishops, conducted the coronation ceremony. Below are MRS. JOSEPH F. CARLSTON, lady in waiting to the queen; FORMER GOVERNOR GEORGE C. PARDEE, who was crowned King of Obapesla, and in the group at the lower right, MRS. FRANK EDOFF; MRS. FRANK ROLLER, lady in waiting to the queen, and MRS. GEORGE W. BAKER JR., maid of honor to the queen.

GERALDINE FASHIONS THE HOME

THE WAY TOM CHESTER EXPRESSED HIMSELF TO MADGE.

A fire of fagots was sending up a cheery blaze in my father's room, and through the windows from which the curtains had been drawn aside, the early winter sun was streaming.

Its light pitilessly betrayed the marks which illness had left upon the face of young Tom Chester, who, attired in a heavy dressing gown, was huddled in a big arm-chair over the fire, as though he could not get enough of the warmth.

So accustomed was he apparently to a knock upon his door that he did not turn his head in greeting when in answer to his feeble "Come in" we entered the room. But when Lillian said cheerily, "Good morning, boy. I have brought you a visitor," he started violently, and rose with heavy awkwardness from his chair.

That he was hardly able to stand I saw, as he supported himself with a hand perceptibly trembling upon the back of the armchair. But there was no sign of weakness or fatigue in his eyes. Instead, they gleamed brightly, joyously, although the flush which crept into his pallid cheeks was patently one of fever instead of health.

"You!" he said breathlessly. "At last!"

I could not keep the quick color from my own face, for I knew Lillian's eyes were upon me and guessed her secret amusement at the extravagance in the boy's tone. But I schooled my voice to matter-of-fact friendliness.

"I have been very remiss in not coming to see you before," I said with my best hostess-to-invalid-guest manner, "but perhaps Mrs. Underwood has told you that I have been under the sway of an old enemy, neuralgic headache ever since I came home."

MADGE IS WORRIED.

"No, she was kind enough not to tell me," he returned tensely. "And you have been suffering!"

His tone made this an unbearable calamity.

"Not any more," I returned lightly. "I'm feeling very fit indeed. But I am so sorry you have had so tedious a siege. Mrs. Underwood assures me, however, that you are steadily gaining."

"That's what they tell me," he said a bit faintly, and I gave a little cry of compunction.

"You must not stand!" I said sharply. "Sit down at once."

"If you'll sit down," he said with an obstinate little smile, and I promptly dropped into the nearest chair, one drawn up in front of the fire, close to his own.

"Thank you," he murmured, and sank down heavily in his own chair, closing his eyes for an instant, patently from sheer weakness. I glanced alarmedly at Lillian, but she gave a reassuring little gesture, and I realized with relief that there was no danger of the boy's swooning, a possibility of which I had thought. The next minute he had opened his eyes again, his momentary dizziness gone.

"I am ashamed to be so good-for-nothing," he said with boyish embarrassment. "I can't understand it. I was a great deal stronger yesterday. Indeed, Dr. Pettit discharged me several days ago, saying all I needed now was to gain strength. I had hoped to be able to go—home—before this. I have been a burden on you people too long."

"OH! FORGIVE ME!"

There was something about the word "home," as the boy brought it out—it appeared to stick in his throat—which brought a lump into my own. I knew that the lad's own home, since his idolized mother had passed out of life, was but a room in a village boarding-house. Yet I hesitated unaccountably, under Lillian's keen eyes, to assure the boy of the welcome that every generous instinct in me urged.

I was relieved when Marion's clear young voice calling her mother sounded from the corridor outside. When Lillian had gone I bent toward the sick lad.

"Please let me hear no more talk of your going home," I said with mock severity, and with more than a twinge of apprehension as to what Dicky would say when the afternoon train should bring him home. But I went on steadily, for, to my notion, the services the lad had rendered us made it an obligation of honor for us to offer him unstinted hospitality and care.

"It would be the height of folly for you to go away from us until you're fully recovered, instead of just being convalescent," I said, "and you ought to know how glad we all are to have you here."

Into the boy's eyes came a flame which made it impossible for me to look at him. And then I felt his thin, feverish hands seize mine and hold them in a tense grip.

"I know—I know," he stammered incoherently, "how divinely kind and good you are. Ah—how I have wanted to see you! It has been an eternity since you went away. But I must get away from here as soon as I can. I can't stay near you and not—. Oh! forgive me. I never meant to say so much. Please don't answer me. Just forget what I said. Remember only I'd give my life to serve you. Good-bye."

He brought my hands to his lips, and I felt the burning pressure of his lips upon them. Then he released them and sank back in his chair with a face so ashen that I was alarmed, and rising from my chair, started for the door with the intention of summoning Lillian. But in the doorway, with a sneering smile set upon his lips, and a devil of anger in his eyes, stood Dicky.

This afternoon ma left her watch in the parlor and I axsidently broke the glass in it against my front teeth pulling it out of my mouth by the chain wile I was doing a watch swallowing act, and I went up in ma's room and she was sitting some nitting and counting the stitches saying, 1, 2, 3, 4, 1, 2, 3, 4, and I sed, Hay ma, wich would be the werst to have broken if you had to take your choice, a window or a looking glass?

Here is where Anne Gorra and Lotta Bunk are going to get their feelin's hurt, but I want them to know that I'M WITH 'EM, STRONG! Their parents were fussy, and so these two girls began fibbing and "putting things over." Well, I told them what I thought of the practice—in fact, I said it was YELLOW, and they wrote back the squarest letter you ever read. They'd quit lying and, according to their story, were "feeding the parrot, combing the cat and darning dirty sox and gossiping with mother's friends."

Now that's a statement to be taken with a grain of salt. They were good enough sports to joke about their "misfortunes," and I got a giggle out of it. But not so the writer of the following letter. She either has what's known as a very literal mind or else she's "spoofing" my friends, Anne and Lotta, and it'l Geraldine:

Dear Jerry:

I'm new in your gang, but I've been reading your page of life's little troubles for several weeks and finally I've taken the courage to write to you.

In last evening's paper I read the letter of Anne Gorra and Lotta Bunk. Now, Jerry, I'm going to tell the world what I think of it. I admire these "sunburned maidens of the Ladies' Aid" for their definite stand against telling lies. I think that modern youth is too apt to resort to fibbing to smooth over their actions.

You know as well as I do, Jerry, that those who do fib and lie always get into trouble sooner or later, and almost invariably comes that hurting conscience with wrong doing. (Hurts worse when you get found out, doesn't it?—Jerry.)

I'm sure that these girls have the right thought in mind when they say that lies are a thing of the past with them, but I entertain a very contemptuous opinion that they still fib just a little. I'll bet a Ford coupe that these girls haven't any parrot to feed or any cat to comb or very much knitting to do. Don't you think that they're fibbing just a little? I do, and I also think that the "sunkist" darlings were rather peeved at their sympathetic friend. I suppose this will make them boil, but really, Jerry, I love my contemporaries. I should be tickled to death to darn dirty socks, because that would be such fun, more more than riding around with the butcher boy.

Well, Jerry, I'm some critic. I'd criticise you if I could find something to scold you about, but I like you and I think you're fine, so I'll wait and see what will be the outcome of this foolishness. Then I'll know what I have to contend with.

Love to the Gang, SULKY.

Well, Sulky, old dear, you don't fool me for one minute. If you'd just LOVE to darn DIRTY SOX—you're too good for this sphere. This is no place for you. You'll get your white soul all muddled up at the first shower.

As for me, GIVE ME THE BUTCHER BOY!

It isn't very often that a letter like this one is received. Golly, but I wish I had time enough to accept the invitation:

Dear Geraldine:

Of course, I have been reading you for years, and at times have been tempted to have my say about some subject or other, but on second thought, always decided to "let George do it." Tonight, however, I got a regular jolt, which made me sit up and take notice. When anyone says "airplane" I prick up my ears, just like an old warhorse when he hears the bugle call. When anyone talks about "flying" I'm right there with goggles on "all dressed up in helmet and leather coat," and no place to go. I have been flying, on and off (mosty off), for three years and have my own plane, so if J. G. T. wants to borrow it, to elope with you, he can have it, providing he can get it over the "hump," which is more than I can do. He can land you on some dry alkili lake, which makes the most wonderful landing field in the world. I lived ten years in Nevada, before I came to Oakland, and I also love the desert and to hear the coyotes howl; so in case you don't or can't accept J. G. T.'s invitation, perhaps he would take me as second choice, just for a flying pal.

Although I am a woman, I understand planes and motors, like most women do their fancy work, and I can talk "aviation" till the cows come home. I have an indexed scrap-book on aviation and I know almost all the pilots on the coast, so I searched in the T's for J. G. T., but in vain. I wonder if he is a pilot or a would-be pilot. In either case he has my sympathy, especially if he has to stay on the ground, which is my misfortune just at present.

In answer to his rhyme about the coyote, here is my parody on "O, Promise Me":

"Oh, promise me that some day
you and I
Will take a big long trip up in the sky.
In your old ship, we'll sail on land and sea;
How far we go, it matters not to me—
When up with you, I never feel afraid.
For pilots such as you, are born,
not made.
The things you do with that old crate
When up with me are simply great!
You throw all others in the shade."

And now please tell me, Jerry, have you ever been up? If not, why not? It's the most glorious thing in the world, barring none.

Your sincere friend,
AERO NUT.

Thanks, Pal for that letter. It was like the "Spirit of Adventure" calling — calling. Some day, you see, I'm going to throw up my job and RESPOND. I've never been "up," excepting in the way I imagine J. G. T. has—in his own imagination. But I hereby make solemn oath, I'M GOING TO SOON.

Again we have the girl "who picks up men." I wish they could see BEFORE meeting "the most wonderful man in the world" that the game is a cheap one. If they could see it before the big love arrives, it would be something accomplished out of THEIR OWN CONSCIOUSNESS, and not just a contrast between the real and the fake.

Dear Jerry:

I won't take up much of your time, but I just want to say a few words about "picking up" men on the street. I'm only seventeen, but I've had quite a lot of experience along that line. I used to pick men up just for the kick I got out of it. I really didn't think there was much harm in it, as I never was insulted by any of the numerous men I met in that way.

However, while I was away this last summer I fell—hard—for a perfect peach of a boy, and one day I just happened to wonder what he'd think of me if he knew of the extremely casual way in which I formed acquaintances. The more I thought, the more I wondered, and finally I sounded him very gently on his opinion of "pick-ups." He didn't say much, but I gathered that his ideas on the subject were much the same as yours, Jerry—namely, that those who engaged in that gentle sport were a little "loco." (He was a cowpuncher, and his idoms were a continual source of delight to me.) Well, after he had left me, I thought some more, and, honestly, my brain actually hurt, I worked it so hard, and I finally decided that he was right; that I was 'way off my trolley. So I've now reformed, and, Jerry, sometimes I look back and wonder why on earth I ever got a kick out of it. Now we are engaged and I'm so happy. Dad and mother are angry, because they say he's "only a cow-boy," but we love each other and I guess that's all that really matters.

Jerry, I've wasted enough of your time now, but I just had to talk.

Lots of love and the best of luck to the Gang and the column. I surely hope you'll let me call again.

Being 99 per cent pure at the present, I give myself a new nom-de-plume. Love from IVORY SOAP.

You've done a lot for your mind already, old dear, but if you'd get a little warm water and make up a good suds with your 99 per cent pure Ivory Soap, and wash all the cobwebs away, you'd be able to see even clearer. You'd see that Seventeen is too young for YOU to be married and you'd make the fascinating cowboy wait at least three years.

That's good advice, Sweetheart, but you're one of "us Gang" whether you take it or not.

Listen! Look! The Lady's Acting

Gimme a soft-nosed bullet, friend; the lady's going to throw a fit.

She has just discovered her husband's affections are wandering afield, among the daisies and the helens.

One woman out of twenty discovers her husband faithless. The other nineteen like to believe that he is. Give them proof of it and the inconsistent things howl their heads off.

They call in the coroner. Reporters. Nothing as unoriginal as a wife crawling out of wrecked conventions.

Her friends arrive on the scene with a word of comfort. She accepts it, tearfully. Friends try philosophy —and wife lays it on thick.

Philosophy! At a time like this! She freezes the atmosphere with a Cold, Cold Stare. Melts it again with her tears. Clutches her breast. Turns toward the door. Turns from the door. Lifts a tragic hand.

Woman likes to dazzle her audience but not by the shine on her nose.

Friends persist. They'll fix it for her. Want her to remain calm while they talk it over with her Better-behaved Half.

And does she remain calm? You don't know our Emmeline. Transfixes her friends with rage and wishes it was a hat-pin. Sharpens her fingernails. "I'll confront them with their Guilty Love." She read that in a book and it sounds Swell.

Woman feeds herself on miles of newspaper accounts of marital disaster until it is as common as the milkman's call and her husband's weekly pay-check. But somehow she can't see herself in her sister's place in the spotlight. Can't even imagine herself there. And when the light of publicity is thrown her way, it dazzles her and blinds her.

Then she goes wild.

The jilted wife murders because she doesn't know what else to do that's nice and messy and melodramatic. Much louder to shoot away two sides of the triangle than to think a path through the jungle of tangled hopes.

Bedlam and fuss and overturned furniture. Lovely scandal. New gowns for courtroom wear. Picture in the papers.

Because woman is born to act and doesn't want to be disturbed at it!

Gimme a soft-nosed bullet, friend; the lady is going to throw a fit.

CORA DOBBS, with the aid of many bottles and boxes, was making herself resplendant for the dance at Hockman's hall.

"A girl has to dress," she remarked to her chum, Cynthia Pruett," and, if I do say it, I am the one what can. This touch of fur, now, who would think I picked it up, you might say, for 79 cents? And who's going to be able to tell the difference from the real thing?" She looked at her roommate pityingly.

"And you could look just as swell, Cynth, if you would. You could go to the dance tonight and have a good time. What do you want to dress like a mouse or a wallflower for? Why not have a good time?"

Cynthia had heard the questions before, but this time they did not bother. "You know I don't like parties like that one."

"And you don't like the people who go to them. I know, you don't like it because I got acquainted with Ed by just meeting him on the street, or with Bill at the excursion. Maybe I don't like it either, but I say we gotta have a good time while we can." She looked around the bare room. "A lot of godd it would do sitting here waiting for a prince to call. Better think over what I said."

Cynthia had most of the night to think it over alone, for it was early morning before the other returned. Then, while Dora was sleeping, she took advantage of the Sunday morning walk in the park. On a bench she looked over the grass which would soon be peopled with the hundreds in search of rest and shade, and wondered some more at the words of her friend.

Was she right in turning away from the fun Dora was having? Could she help the yearning to have a home of her own and a different sort of life than that to which her roommate aspired? It seemed like a hopeless dream, this one of waiting for the right man to appear. Perhaps like Dora, she should go out and hunt him, even in places as unpromising as Hockman's hall. Her elbow was on her knee now and her chin in her hand. There were tears in her eyes and she was looking for her answer in a mist of gray and green. She does not know how long she sat thus, but when she moved there was a protest.

"Oh, if you please, hold it just a little minute more!" It was a young man on a bench beside her, a man with a block of drawing paper and a pencil.

"Hold what?" the girl asked, making ready to move.

"The pose, please." The man's hat was off now and Cynthia saw he had curly brown hair. His look was all kindness, she decided, kindness and anxiety. "I wish to finish a little sketch and if you go, I can't.

"Does it make any difference? Couldn't you draw another of someone else?

"It makes a great deal of difference. You see, I came here early, feeling out of sorts, and was mooning away my troubles when I saw you. You didn't know I was near and you sat so still and so absorbed and looking so much in the mood I had been in, that I started to draw you. While it is only a sketch, it is better than anything I have ever done. It makes me think I am some good as an artist, after all. If you knew how much that meant you'd let me finish."

A girl who had been reminded so many times that she was plain, responded to the compliment of being asked to pose. The courtesy of the man, and perhaps his brown curls, may have had something to do with it. Cynthia forgot she had been debating this very question of making chance acquaintances with men and tried to resume her former pose.

"That's it," he said. It's luck I got the expression before. In just a minute I'll have the detail I needed."

"There!" He put down the pad and Cynthia turned. It was over and she could go. Yet she would like to look at the picture.

"Of course," the artist smiled. "It was only because I was a little afraid," and he showed his sketch to the model.

No seasoned critic could have picked upon the mood any quicker than this girl who knew nothing at all of art. She took the picture, held it before her a long time, then sat down with it.

"You must have known"—and there was a catch in her voice—"oh, you must have known what I was thinking about!"

Very softly he replied, "That is the greatest compliment I have ever been paid!"

It never occurred to Cynthia to question the propriety of sitting there talking to this man through the morning hours. It was only when she reached her room that she experienced the first moment of questioning. She had told him her name and much of her story and had listened to his.

She looked at the card he had given her. "He told me to inquire about him, to make sure," she whispered. "Oh, I just know he is all right, he couldn't help but be!"

Uncle Wiggily Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LATE BUTTERFLY.

"Ting-a-ling!" rang the telephone in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Hello! Hello! Yes! Yes! Who is it?" asked the bunny rabbit.

"This is Dr. Possum," came back over the wire. "I say, Uncle Wiggily, do you remember the Black Bushy Bear who burned his nose when he was trying to teach you how to flip-flop pancakes?"

"Indeed, I do remember him," said Uncle Wiggily, with a sort of a shiver instead of a twinkle of his pink nose. "What about him?"

"I just saw him lumbering around in the woods when I came home from giving Tommie Kat some catnip tea to stop his tail ache," said Dr. Possum over the telephone. "If you go out adventuring today, Uncle Wiggily, be careful to watch out for the Black Bushy Bear."

"I will," promised the rabbit gentleman. Then he hopped away from the telephone, put on his tall, silk hat and, taking his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, away he started from his hollow stump bungalow.

"I do hope nothing happens to him," murmured Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "He is a dear, good rabbit gentleman, but so queer! Oh, dear!"

Uncle Wiggily hopped along, over the fields and through the woods, and, all of a sudden, he passed by a clinging vine which smelled most sweet.

"Ah, that is honeysuckle," said the bunny gentleman. "Some late honeysuckle that has the kindness to blossom after the season is over. My, how wonderful it is—filled with honey, too, if I could only get it out. But it needs a long tongue, like that of the butterfly, to sip the honey from the long flowers."

However, Uncle Wiggily could smell the honeysuckle, if he could not take any of sweet juice, and, after sniffing once or twice with his pink nose, he hopped on again.

He had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, he heard a sad voice saying:

"Oh, dear! I am so late! I fear! Ah, woe is me!"

"Hum! I wonder who this can be?" thought the rabbit gentleman. "It can't be the Black Bushy Bear, for he has a voice like a bull, and these sad words were as gentle as the south wind. I wonder who it is?"

He looked around and saw a butterfly, fluttering its wings of red and gold.

"I am so late! I am so very late!" sighed the butterfly.

"What are you late for?" asked Uncle Wiggily, kindly. "If you mean you are late for school, don't worry. This is Saturday and there is no school."

"No, I don't mean I am late for school," went on the butterfly, fluttering around the rabbit. "I mean I am too late to gather any honey from the flowers. Most of the flowers have withered and died, and I shall die, too, unless I can gather sweets. Excuse me, is that a rose I see?" and the butterfly flitted close to the bunny.

"Ah, excuse me, but that is my pink nose," laughed Uncle Wiggily, "and you are tickling me," he added, as the butterfly lighted on his whiskers.

"Oh, my mistake!" murmured the butterfly. "I thought your pink nose was a rose where I might sip honey. Alas! What shall I do for sweets? I am so very late! My friends gathered honey from the early flowers, but I waited too late! Ah, woe is me!"

"Don't feel so sad," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "I just saw some late honeysuckle flowers. If you will come with me I'll show you where they grow on a vine. From them you may sip as much honey as you wish."

"Oh, how kind you are!" sang the butterfly. "I thank you from the tips of my wings," and the lovely red and gold insect flew along with the rabbit, who led the way to the late honeysuckle vine.

"That is my pink nose," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

The butterfly had a long, thin black tongue which, when not in use, was kept curled up like a fireman's hose. Uncoiling its tongue, the butterfly began to sip the honey from the late flowers when, all of a sudden, out of the bushes came lumbering the Black Bushy Bear.

"Ah! Now I shall have ears to nibble!" howled the Bear, making a dash for Uncle Wiggily.

But the butterfly flew up from a honeysuckle blossom and cried:

"I see a black rose! I must get some honey from that!" And straight it flew for the Black Bushy Bear's black nose, lighting on it.

"Ouch, how you tickle! Oh, ouchie, how you tickle! Oh, ouchie-wowchie, how you tickle!" howled the Black Bushy Bear. And then he turned a somersault and ran back in the woods to scratch his ticklish nose on the rough bark of a tree while the butterfly flew back to the honeysuckle.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Did you think the bear's nose was a black rose?"

"No, I just made believe to tickle him so he wouldn't nibble your ears," answered the beautiful insect.

"Thank you," said the rabbit gentleman, with a low polite bow of his tall silk hat. And then, leaning on his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, back home he hopped.

And if the ice pick doesn't try to stand on its head and tickle the milk bottle in the ribs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the hickory nuts.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

RAGGEDY ANN and Raggedy Andy and little Ned Gnome and Percival and Penelope were sitting near the ice cream soda water fountain in the deep, deep woods when the two mean little witches, Wanda and Winda Witch came flying up on their magical flying broom.

"Oh, dear!" Raggedy Ann cried, "now the mean little old Witches will capture us again!"

"Let us run just as fast as we can!" Raggedy Andy suggested.

"Do not run!" the two Witches said. "We shall not try to capture you again."

And when the Raggedys and little Ned Gnome did not run the two Witches came and sat down beside them.

"We shall not try to take the Magical Wishing Pebble and the Magical Wishing Stick away from you any more!" Wanda Witch said.

"When we had the Wishing Pebble and the Wishing Stick we could not get them to make our wishes come true!" Winda Witch said.

"LET US RUN JUST AS FAST AS WE CAN!" RAGGEDY ANDY SUGGESTED.

"And so, we have come to ask you to forgive us for causing you so much trouble, Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and little Ned Gnome," Wanda Witch said.

Raggedy Ann took her nice blue-bordered pocket hanky and wiped Wanda Witch's eyes and Winda Witch's eyes, for both little old Witches were crying as if their Witch hearts would break.

"Don't cry any more, Miss Wanda and Miss Winda Witch!" Raggedy Ann said. "Even if you did chase us, it was a lot of fun, so we forgive you. Don't we little Ned Gnome and Raggedy Andy?"

"Yes, indeed!" Raggedy Andy and little Ned Gnome said.

So the two little old Witches dried their tears and smiled.

"Who is this pretty little girl and this pretty little boy with you, Raggedy Ann?" Wanda Witch asked as she looked at Penelope and Percival.

"Well! You would never guess!" Raggedy Ann laughed in reply. "That is Penelope and Percival, who used to be Penelope and Percival Pig!"

"And how did they change into a girl and a boy?" Winda Witch asked.

"I changed them with my Wishing Pebble!" Raggedy Ann replied. "You see, they used to be just as they are now before they made pigs of themselves! It was Percival who made us invisible in your house and it was Percival who helped us escape from you when you had us captured!"

"Dear me!" Winda Witch sighed. "How often, oh, how often Wanda and I have wished that we were not Witches! We have cried many nights after we had tried all day with our magic charms to change ourselves back into what we were before we were Witches!"

"But our charms would not make us change back!" Wanda Witch said.

"Neither would my Wishing Ring change me from a pig back into a boy!" Percival said. "But now that I am a boy again, and I have the Magical Wishing Ring, I will make the wish that you two mean little old Witches change back into what you were before!" And before the two Witches had time to wink their eyes they had been changed from ugly little old Witches into pretty young ladies. And they were so happy, they hugged Percival and Penelope and Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and little Ned Gnome fifteen times each. And then, after so much excitement, all our friends drank seventeen more sodas apiece, Cause every one was as happy as could be and what tastes better than sodas, when one is very, very happy?

THE "SUCKER LIST"

A Confessional For Reformed Saps

Conducted by George Callendersom

THE "ROUMANIAN BOX" TRICK.

(All Rights Reserved.)

The Roumanian Box trick is one of the several swindles that is worked exclusively on foreigners. It is not confined to Roumanians, but is used to fleece Italians, Russians, Czechs, Slavs, Bulgarians and many other nationals newly arrived in the United States.

"The schiller" or bunco steerer locates the victim. It is characteristic of the foreigner that he seeks quarters among his own people. Most frequently he will find lodging with a countryman. The steerer finds a rich man, becomes his friend, perhaps helps him out as translator and learns where he keeps his money and how much he has. If the victim has available funds, the steerer reports to the bunco operator and they make plans to "take" him for his "roll." If his money is tied up so they cannot get it, they leave him and hunt another.

Once having located a rich man in a lodging house, the swindlers establish their "plant." The operator and an assistant rent a room in the place and begin to act mysteriously. They guard a black box with the utmost care. It is never left alone. Either the operator or his assistant always remain in the room. They are heard working far into the night.

Naturally the curiosity of the other boarders is aroused. The steerer tells the sucker that he has watched these men through the keyhole. They seem to have a lot of money. Finally the swindlers take the rich man into their confidence.

They admit that the black box is a money-making machine. They are being hounded by the police and by a gang of crooks who wish to steal the machine, and they must make a bunch of coin and flee. The operator demonstrates to the sucker how the machine works.

A large roll of $5 bills is spread out and piled up. Blank sheets of paper exactly the size of the green backs are placed between the bills, which are then wrapped up tightly, tied and sealed. The package is thrust through one of the little doors into the black box, to which is attached a crank like that of a phonograph. The operator turns the crank for half an hour, then removes the package, which he weighs down with bricks on a table. They sit around for eight hours smoking, drinking and telling stories. At the end of that time the miracle has been performed.

When the bricks are removed and the package opened, all the blank sheets of paper that were placed between the greenbacks are seen to be turned into money. The rich man has watched every move. He has seen the impossible happen with his own eyes.

The operator tells the sucker that he wants to make a large lot of hundred dollar bills, but he needs many genuine bills in order to accomplish this. The rich man produces $1000, maybe $5000 or $10,000 in $100 bills and these are put in the machine. The rich man watches that machine which contains his money while the crank is being turned and he keeps his eye constantly on the roll that is taken out and stacked between the bricks.

Just as the 8-hour vigil begins, the assistant operator comes rushing in. "The police are on our trail," he says. "We must escape with the black box." They decide to leave the money between the bricks with the rich man. They will trust to his honesty to send them their share of the money that will be made. So they escape with the black box.

When the sucker opens up the package after an 8-hour wait, he finds blank paper. His good money had been left in the black box and a package of worthless paper had been taken out and placed between the bricks. The crooks had an 8-hour start.

If you have ever been swindled tell the details to the Magazine Editor The TRIBUNE.

"ASK THE ENVELOPE" AND KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT
HOWARD USED CARS
The bunco men aren't all in the circus, and they don't all operate with the elusive African egg dodger. When a man is prepared to spend a few hundred dollars on a USED CAR, he should be careful to select the RIGHT firm with whom to deal. We say "RIGHT" because that's the merchant who has built up his business on the testimony of satisfied patrons. We make this claim. Every buyer of our used cars MUST be satisfied. Our "Ask the Envelope" policy makes it impossible for any other kind of a transaction. We "come clean" with the truth about our cars—written facts—definite information—and this necessitates the handling of cars whose history will not suffer by making public these facts.

SAVANT TO TEST WILD MAN'S DRUG KNOWN AS KAAPI

Reaction of Potion Upon Intellectual Person Will Be Made Known.

BERKELEY, Sept. 29. — The reaction on a university professor of a drug known as "kaapi," reputed to "unchain the fierce impulses of the subconscious mind and transform its user into a raging savage, bereft of timidity, fear of the veneer of civilization," is to be tested by Dr. Albert S. Schneider, lecturer at the University of California, according to announcement made here. He has just left Berkeley for his home in Portland.

The new drug is said to have been obtained from savage tribes inhabiting the jungles at the headwaters of the Amazon and to have been brought to this country by Dr. H. H. Rusby, dean of the New York College of Pharmacy.

Dr. Schneider declared he intended to take some of the serum soon after his return to Portland and later give to the world the story of his sensations while under the influence of the drug. He is dean of the North Pacific College of Portland and prominent as a psychiatrist.

"Kaapi," according to Dr. Schneider, is used as part of a ritualistic ceremony by the savages of the Amazon. It is said to imbue them with a lust to beat and maim their fellow tribesmen and at the same time to deprive them of the sense of pain. During the orgies which follow its use, they inflict terrible punishment upon each other.

The attention of the medical world was called to the drug at a recent convention of the American Pharmaceutical association at Asheville, N. C., after which Dr. Schneider offered to make himself the subject of an experiment to test whether the potency of the serum would have the same reaction upon a man of highly developed intellect as upon the uncivilized.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sanative Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish." —Mrs. ED. BOEHNLEIN, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. It is now selling almost all over the world.

Romance Is Shattered

MISS ANNA GERTRUDE BOSWORTH, Piedmont society girl, who verifies rumor that her engagement to Baldwin M. Baldwin is broken. She says young Baldwin "knows and understands."

Bosworth-Baldwin Nuptials Off; "He Knows," Says Girl

"He knows, and understands." This quality of comprehension is conceded by Anna Gertrude Bosworth, Piedmont society girl, to Baldwin M. Baldwin, who was, but is no longer, her fiance. Miss Bosworth's statement concerning her former suitor's understanding of the situation was made while she was verifying a rumor to the effect that the Bosworth-Baldwin engagement had been broken. As to what that situation is, Miss Bosworth declines to say.

"I have no reason to give for the broken engagement," she declared. "But this will not surprise Mr. Baldwin. He knows and understands, and there is nothing unusual about it whatever."

Miss Bosworth is the daughter of Mrs. Charles J. Bosworth of 17 Bonita avenue, Piedmont. Baldwin is the grandson of E. J. Baldwin. He is now with his mother, Mrs. Anita Baldwin of Santa Ana.

Miss Bosworth was a guest of Mrs. Baldwin at the Baldwin home about two weeks ago.

Announcement was made last August that the Bosworth-Baldwin wedding was one of the society events scheduled for October.

Miss Bosworth was graduated from Miss Ransom's school in Berkeley, and also attended the University of California, where she took an active part in campus activities. Baldwin is a graduate of the University of California.

WIFE DIVORCES HUSBAND FOUND WITH ANOTHER

Mrs. Nellie E. Russell Tells Court Pair Happy Until Rival Appeared.

A woman with "rosy cheeks and dressed in blue" and bearing the name of Mrs. E. W. Dill, broke up the home of Nellie E. and James Russell, Mrs. Russell testified recently before Clarence Crowell, court commissioner, her testimony resulting in a decree of divorce being granted her today by Superior Judge Dudley Kinsell.

Mrs. Russell who lives at 1417 Jefferson street said that she and her husband were happy together until Mrs. Dill entered Russell's life. One evening Russell received a note signed by Mrs. Dill, the wife testified. He said it was a business call. She became suspicious and followed him. Later in the evening she saw Russell and Mrs. Dill holding hands at a dance, she said. She left her husband they were separated for a week.

On his promise to change his ways and give up Mrs. Dill she took him back, she said. All went well for a while and then her suspicions were aroused again. One afternoon she called at Russell's office. He was not there and neither was his automobile. She did some detective work on her own account and shortly found the machine parked near a rooming house at 2329 San Pablo avenue, she said.

Entering she obtained a key from the landlady, to whom she described her husband. With this she gained entrance to an apartment where she found Russell and Mrs. Dill, she testified.

Mrs. Russell slapped Mrs. Dill's face before she left theapartment, according to her testimony. She left Russell and has since refused to return to him, despite his many importunings.

Fred Anderson, who served the summons on Mrs. Dill, who was named as a defendant in the suit, testified that the woman admitted to him that Mrs. Russell had found her with Russell.

Stolen Auto Found, Owner Comes to Life

OROVILLE, Sept. 29.—Reports that Lowell M. Gates, of Orange county, whose car had been found on the District Ten highway, was missing and that foul play was feared by officers, has resulted in the reappearance of Gates to claim his property. He announced that he had been working for Dr. Newbold on his ranch in Butte county; that he loaned the car to a fellow workman who had never returned it and that he had reported the car as stolen to the Butte county officials.

Sequoia Pupils Study in Cellar Of Schoolhouse

SEVERAL classes of Sequoia school are now being conducted in the cellar, as the roofs of two portables were blown off during the recent high winds.

The school, admitted to be badly overcrowded, was struggling along with a fleet of portables anchored near the school building proper; but the decapitation of two buildings immediately caused a shortage of seats.

The business department of the board of education asserts that the boys and girls will come out of the cellar in a week or so, when new roofs will be laid on the roofless portables.

FIVE FEDERAL JUDGES NEEDED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.— Five additional federal judges are needed to expeditiously handle the business of the federal courts throughout the country, in the opinion of the conference of senior circuit court judges presided over by Chief Justice Taft, which adjourned yesterday after five sessions.

The conference also arranged for the transfer of judges from one circuit to another for the coming year, where judges are needed for crowded dockets. It found that the circuit courts of appeal were up with their dockets and disposing of business in a satisfactory way without any substantial delay and that, except in one circuit there was no need of any additional judicial force.

In the southern district of New York, in spite of the fact that district judges from California, Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois, Alabama, New Jersey and other states have been sent there to hold court, the number of cases on the docket continues to increase.

TENTATIVE PLANS MADE FOR LOCAL "NAVY DAY" FETE

Eastbay Naval Reserve Will Celebrate Occasion Appropriately.

Tentative plans for the participation of Oakland in the national observance of United States Navy Day, which falls on October 27, were considered at a meeting of the Eastbay Naval Reserve last evening. Lieutenant-Commander W. C. Tooze, commandant of the Oakland battalion of the United States Naval Reserve, was made director.

"Navy Day" as a day for national observance, is but one year old. It was the birthday of the late President Roosevelt and was established by the Navy League of the United States.

A statement issued by President Robert W. Kelley of the Navy League of the United States, declares:

"Our people should realize what the navy has don for the country in the past, in war, but more especially in peace. They should know that the navy is not a financial burden, but an industrial asset that has returned more in economic values than it cost; that it has never caused a war or tempted the country to go to war, but has been one of our greatest preservers of peace."

S. F. Bank Employee Is Killed in Seattle

SEATTLE, Sept. 29.—Miss Janice I. Cole, an employee of the Seattle branch of the San Francisco Federal Reserve bank, died last night of injuries received when an automobile in which she was riding home from work a few hours earlier was struck by another. Miss Cole was graduated from the University of Washington last spring.

Six other persons were hurt in automobile mishaps here yesterday.

Asphalt Ridges On Fourteenth Street Attacked

TEMPORARY repairs are now being made again on East Fourteenth street.

A street department crew, with scraper and scarifier, moved yesterday to Oakland's main eastern thoroughfare and started shaving off the tops of some of the mountain-ranges and ridges of asphalt which appear from Fifteenth avenue eastward. The crew is working in from the San Leandro line.

Street officials assert that the condition of this old thoroughfare is such that nothing really permanent can be done until the whole street is re-paved.

BOGUS OFFICERS MULCT SPEEDER OF $50 FINE

EUREKA, Cal., Sept. 29.—A. Vosgreau probably had a guilty conscience.

He was arrested by a motorcop and fined $50 by a "justice of the peace" when he pleaded guilty to an alleged infraction of the traffic laws.

He paid the fine and then found that both the "cop" and the "justice" were imposters.

Verdict Is Guilty in Dice Game Murder

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—A superior court jury deliberated only a short time late yesterday before convicting A. F. Champion of the murder of James E. Goldey, whom he was alleged to have shot during a dice game January 10, 1922, "because he was too lucky."

The verdict was guilty of murder in the first degree, without recommendation, which left the court no course except to sentence him to be hanged.

Sentence will be passed next Tuesday.

HIGHER PRESSURE GAS NEARLY READY IN LAKE DISTRICT

Regulators Are Placed in Premises to Avoid Flow Changes.

In order to take care of the increased demand for gas service in the Lake district and East Piedmont, the Pacific Gas and Electric company has about completed the conversion of its low pressure gas mains to semi-high pressure mains in that territory.

In making this conversion, regulators are placed on the consumers' premises for the regulating of gas pressure. The pressure in the mains is then built up to a greater pressure than is ordinarily maintained; so that consumers will be assured of uniform pressure, when most of the consumers are using the service.

This work, which involves the placing of pressure regulators in the street and on each consumer's premises, involves an expenditure of about $6000.

L. H. Newbert, division manager of the company, in speaking of the work being done, states that during the eight months ending August 31, there was a gain of 10,735 consumers in the Eastbay division. During the past month, the records show an increase of 2253 consumers.

Experiment Fatal to Noted Metallurgist

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—An inquest here yesterday over the body of Dr. Sergio Bagnara, metallurgist of international fame and descendant of Spanish nobility, who died here Wednesday, revealed that he met death while performing a scientific experiment and drank by mistake a poison which in some unexplained manner had been placed in a bottle bearing the label of a harmless liquid, according to the Los Angeles Examiner.
